Roger Blough Explains Steel Pricing Policy

Lawmakers Listen to More Testimony by Steel Official

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee today recalled Chairman Roger M. Blough of U. S. Steel Corp., who said he has trouble "communicating" with lawmakers, for the third straight day of questioning on the recent steel price increase.

In his last two appearances before the group Blough did most of the talking with the lawmakers trying to get a word in edgewise.

But the steel executive apparently felt he wasn't getting anywhere in his efforts to explain why his firm raised the price of steel $6 a ton last June.

"My success in communicating with the lawmakers of this country has been almost zero," Blough said.

He denied that major steel producers entered any industry-wide agreement to boost the price by July 1. He said he didn't even talk it over with other producers.

Seeks Advice

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney then asked Blough what he thought should be done to curb inflation. O'Mahoney said any man who had "worked his way to the top" of the steel industry should have good ideas for Congress.

Blough replied, "I always hesitate ever to advise Congress." But he added that his aides had prepared material on the subject.

O'Mahoney told him to prepare a statement "in your own good time without an audience and the harassment of committee members looking down your throat."

Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) reeled off a list of companies that raised their steel prices shortly after U.S. Steel did.

Blough smiled genially for press photographers and apparently was paying no attention until Kefauver asked: "How did that happen."

Asks Them

"If you are asking me why major producers changed their price on July 1 in the same amount as we changed ours, I think you should direct your question to the major producers," he replied.

But he added that "probably one thing that was going through their minds was that there is a substantial uniform labor contract throughout the industry; their costs were going up the same amount as ours."

'SUPERSTITION' — It is "sheer economic superstition" to contend that the $6-a-ton steel price increase would add to inflation, Roger M. Blough, U. S. Steel board chairman, tells Senate anti-trusters in Washington.

U. S. Officials Tell Students Not to Visit Red China

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials today said thorough investigations will be made of any American students at the Moscow youth festival who visit Red China.

The officials said stiff penalties for travelling to Red China might be invoked as a result of court action for any misuse of passports. that American youths did go to ed about 50 American youths at the festival are planning to visit Red China.

The State Department can only investigate violations of its ban on travel to Red China. If American officials overseas have evidence that American youths did ggo to Red China their passports which are stamped not valid for travel to Red China probably would be marked valid only for return to the United States." Before this provision or any other limitation is placed in the passport the youths would have an opportunity to request a hearing.

The State Department will withhold any immediate investigation until it is advised that Americans in Moscow for the youth festival actually go to Red China.

While criminal action is possible, it was not used in the case of three American newsmen who recently defied the State Department ban and went to Red China.

Fines of up to $2,000 and imprisonment of up to five years or both can be levied in case of violation of passport regulation.

Ike Has Dinner With First Lady

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower had dinner Friday night with Mrs. Eisenhower at Walter Reed Army Medical Center where the First Lady continues to make a "most satisfactory" recovery from her recent operation.

The White House said Mrs. Eisenhower sat up in a chair twice Friday once in the morning and once in the afternoon. The President drove to the hospital in the early evening for dinner.

A White House aide said the First Lady has received numerous messages wishing her a speedy recovery from her Tuesday operation. Some of the notes and cards were taken to her hos-

Car Hits Trolley; Driver Is Killed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Robert Kwasniewwski, 23, of 683 Grant St., Heidelberg, Allegheny County, was killed and three persons were injured Friday night when his automobile collided with a trolley.

The injured were passengers aboard the trolley.

The accident occurred on West Carson Street leading to McKees Rocks A short while later, two automobiles collided on the same road near the McKees Rocks borough line, injuring seven persons.

Woman Refuses Amputation; Is Slowly Dying

BRADDOCK, Pa. (UP)—A 77-year-old widow is "dying by inches" because she refuses to have her gangrene - infected leg amputated, doctors reported today.

Mrs. Mary Ptaszynski has steadfastly denied surgeons permission to cut off her right leg below the knee, despite the protests of her family and physicians.

Without the surgery, doctors have agreed, she will die.

Mrs. Ptaszynski is a diabetic with the old age complication of hardening of the arteries. The ailment has cut off circulation to the right leg.

Doctors removed three toes on the left foot, but the woman has refused to allow another amputation.

Judge Henry X. O'Brien, when the case was brought to his attention, ruled there was nothing in the law to free a surgeon from civil or criminal action if the leg were amputated and the woman or her family decided to bring suit.

"We're all concerned about her," said Alex V. Pegdan, Braddock, son-in-law of Mrs. Ptaszynski. "But nobody seems to know what else can be done."

General Speaks To Guardsmen

INDIANTOWN GAP MILITARY RESERVATION, Pa. (UP)—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, former Far East commander, said today the United Nations are ready to hurl their armed might at the Chinese and North Korean Communists if there is any new outbreak of aggression in Korea.

The new Army vice chief of staff, speaking at a Governor's Day review here, said "we have no intention" of allowing the Communists to think again that they can carry out a "quick land grab along the frontier of the free world" in Korea.

The President told Dulles to hitch a ride in Weeks' airplane. As the secretary bundled aboard another plane at Camp Drum to ferry him the rest of the way, he laughed and said, "I was ordered to" hitch the ride.

Cyclist Killed Near Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP) — Priscilla Zebkar, 17, of 406 Main St., Brownsville, was injured fatally early today when a motorcycle on which she was riding collided with an automobile on Bull Run Road near here.

Robert D. Knostrick, 17, of 603 Sixth St. Marianna, Washington County, operator of the motorcycle, was admitted to Brownsville Hospital in serious condition with a skull fracture. The girl died in the hospital three hours after the accident.

State police said the motorcycle crossed the center line and collided with a car driven by George Illig, 62, Millsboro RD 1, Fayette County, who was not injured.

Roscoe Fire Loss $50,000

Flames Destroy Paper Supply Co. As 60 Firemen Battle 5 Hours

Fire completely destroyed the Interstate Paper Supply Co. building on Good St. in Roscoe yesterday.

Loss to the one-story frame structure was estimated at $50,000.

The fire of undetermined origin began about 5:30 p. m. Firemen stayed on the scene until 10:30 p. m.

The building containing bales of salvage paper was burned to the ground. Firemen said they were unable to save anything.

Fire Chief Clyde Brokaw, of Roscoe, said every available piece of equipment from the Roscoe and California Fire Departments was used to fight the blaze. Some 60 fire-fighters fought the futile cause.

Brokaw said that when firemen arrived the building was a mass of flames.

Burned Rapidly

"All we could do," he said "was to flood the building with water. There was no possible way of saving anything. It burned like gasoline."

He said about 2,000 feet of hose was laid. Several thousand gallons of water were played on the blazing structure.

Firemen were called back about 12:30 this morning when some water-soaked bales of paper began smoldering.

The building and its contents were covered by $21,000 insurance.

The company is owned by Robert Raitano, of Roscoe.

Implicate Three More in Alleged Cinder Swindle

HARRISBURG (UP) — Three more men have been implicated in an alleged swindle involving a state Highways Department cinders contract.

Harrisburg Alderman John L Madden has issued warrants for the arrest of John W. Crerand, Manchester RD 1, Phillip Price, Columbia, and Frank S. Jamieson, West Chester, charging the three with conspiracy and false pretenses. Each posted $1,000 bail and waived a hearing.

Jamieson is a former Chester County highways superintendent. Crerand was York County superintendent and Democratic chairman. Price was one-time Lancaster County Democratic chairman.

Earlier, a Schuylkill County contractor, Victor Prep, Frackville, was charged with conspiracy and fraud in connection with the sale of cinders to the state. He was released on $30,000 bail.

The state charges that about $45,000 is involved in the alleged swindle, which threatens to involve county highway departments throughout the state.

Brownsville Youth Hits Squire's Son

An 18-year-old Brownsville youth was arrested yesterday after hitting the son of a justice of the peace.

Leonard Malenosky is accused of striking John G. Jennings, 18, as he walked out of a grocery store. Jennings is a son of Squire John M. Jennings, of Brownsville.

Justice of the Peace John Kobalia, of Allison, near Brownsville, quoted Malenosky as saying he hit the youth because Squire Jennings had held Malenosky's brother, William, for court on a charge of attempting to ravish.

Leonard Malenosky is charged with assault and battery, surety of the peace and disorderly conduct.

Costello Named Committee Head

John E. Costello, Charleroi attorney, has been appointed chairman of the policy committee of the Pennsylvania Municipal Authorities Association, it was revealed today by Charles C. Wedemeyer, Association chairman.

The committee will draft policy statements to be acted upon at the annual conference at Pocono Manor, Pa., in October.

Costello is solicitor for the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi and the municipal authorities of Belle Vernon and Washington Twp., Fayette County.

James H. Smith

President Selects Smith to Direct U. S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has picked James H. Smith Jr., a Colorado rancher and former Navy official, to direct America's multi-billion dollar foreign aid program.

The President also nominated AFL-CIO President George Meany as a delegate to the 12th session of the United Nations General Assembly and movie actress Irene Dunne as alternate delegate.

Eisenhower sent the three nominations to the Senate Friday along with that of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. for re-appointment as head of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations. James J. Wadsworth was selected alternate to Lodge.

The 48-year-old Smith, a native New Yorker, would replace John B. Hollister as head of the International Cooperation Administration. Hollister notified Eisenhower July 1 that he wanted to step down after nearly 2½ years in the post.

Smith was a commander in the Naval Reserve during World War II. He later served in a variety of Navy Department posts, as executive assistant secretary for air and as a special asistant to the secretary of the Navy.

Administration officials said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles picked Miss Dunne, wife of Dr. Francis D. Griffin, because she is regarded an outstanding American woman with a great interest in international affairs.

FBI Nabs Suspect In Masontown Slaying in Miami

MIAMI (UP) — Joseph Watreas Jr., 29, of Masontown, Pa., was arrested here by FBI agents on Friday night on a fugitive warrant charging him in the July 29 slaying of an elderly Masontown store keeper.

Watreas, former high school football star, was picked up in a downtown five-and-ten cent store as he was waiting for a woman companion.

He will be arraigned here Monday in the murder of Alvin O. Partridge, 81, who was strangled in his Masontown grocery store. Bond was set at $10,000.

Watreas had been using an assumed name, Joseph Kelog, since coming here July 30 and getting a job as a service station attendant.

The woman with him was identified by FBI agents as Audrey Clark, 25, of Vanderbilt, Fayette County, Pa. Watreas told agents he married the woman in Oakland Md., the day Partridge was slain.

Watreas has a wife and a three year-old son living in Masontown.

State police connected Watreas to the slaying when it was determined that bootprints found on Partridge's shirt and on a back pork of the victim's store matched miner's shoes owned by the suspect.

Dogs Lost in Mingo Creek Fire

Three beagle dogs were burned to death when fire swept through a barn at Mingo Creek near Monongahela yesterday afternoon.

The barn owned by Howard Lusk was burned to the ground. Loss was estimated at $12,000.

Firemen from Monongahela, New Eagle and Finleyville were summoned.

The cause has not been determined.

Government May Drop Case Against Red Spy To Protect FBI Files

J. Edgar Hoover Opposed to Releasing FBI Information

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government may have to drop its spy case against Soviet Col. Rudolph Ivanovich Abel until Congress takes action to protect FBI files, congressional sources said today.

The Justice Department had no comment, but sources close to the department expressed fears about the outcome against Abel, who is regarded as one of the central figures in the government's recent roundup of accused spies.

Abel was indicted Wednesday on charges that he sent secret defense material to Russia while posing for nine years as a Brooklyn photographer. If convicted, he would be liable to the death penalty.

Congressional concern about the outcome of the case stemmed from the June 3 Supreme Court decision to compel the government to show defendants in criminal cases the FBI reports of prosecution witnesses.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has been known for years to strongly oppose disclosure of any FBI reports that reveal FBI investigative techniques, disclose confidential informants, or injure innocent people.

May Withdraw

Some sources reported several weeks ago that Hoover and his associates feel they would prefer the FBI to withdraw from the prosecution of some espionage and other security cases if necessary to protect the sanctity of FBI files.

Any prosecution of an espionage case without FBI participation would be unlikely—if not impossible.

But congressional sources said Justice Department prosecutors are concerned about the broad interpretation by trial judges of the Supreme Court's decision.

Sustain Demands

In some cases, the trial court has sustained defense demands for a wide variety of government documents.

The House Judiciary Committee recently approved a bill to offset the high court's decision somewhat. Under its bill, the trial judge would determine what part, if any, of the FBI report need to be shown to the defense.

The bill is still pending. Congressional sources expressed fear the measure may get lost in the shuffle during Congress' headlong rush toward adjournment.

Assemble for 33rd Annual 4-H Club Week

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —The best of the state's farm youth—more than 1,000 strong with their prize livestock, poultry, and other exhibits—assembled here today for the 33rd annual Pennsylvania 4-H Club week.

The boy and girl delegates, selected from the 40,000 4-H members in Pennsylvania, will participate in four days of judging contests and demonstrations in which new 4-H team and individual champions will be named. They also will compete for ribbons, plaques, cups and expense - paid trips to national shows and expositions.

Gov. George M. Leader will address the opening assembly tonight in Schwab Auditorium on the Pennsylvania State College campus where the youthful farmers are staging their big show.

More than 1,200 4-H Club members, leaders and agricultural and home economics extension workers from the state's 67 counties are participating in the week-long program.

British Pound Rebel Stronghold In Persian Gulf

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UP)—British bombers and jet fighters today pounded stubborn rebel units in hilltop emplacements and caves holding up the advance of loyal forces on the rebel strong hold of Nizwa.

Air Vice Marshal Sir Laurence Sinclair, the overall commander of combined British-Sultanate forces operating against the Iman of Oman said his forces had met "organized resistance" from an enemy "well-trained and in well prepared positions."

He said Brigadier James A. R. Robertson ordered his ground troops to sit tight until the air assault flushed out the rebel snipers on the road to Nizwa.

Two four - engine Shackleton bombers dropped 104 two-pound fragmentation bombs on rebel-held spurs and crags dominating the valley between Firq and the insurgent headquarters at Nizwa from about 4,000 feet.

The RAF controller on the spot said the bombing was "having effect" and that the rebels were leaving their caves.

Woman Dies at Pittsburgh Game

Dulles Turns Hitch-hiker

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, one of the world's most traveled men, turned hitch-hiker Friday.

Dulles told newsmen at nearby Camp Drum he did it on orders from the White House.

The world - trotting secretary said he, President Eisenhower and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks were conferring at the White House when the Chief Executive discovered both his aides were heading north.

Weeks was flying to Camp Drum, where today he reviewed his home state Massachusetts National Guardsmen. Dulles and his wife were heading for their Duck Island retreat on Lake Ontario.

Senate Probers To Call Ousted Union Official

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Senate rackets investigator said today an ousted union official will be asked next week whether he handed New York hoodlum Johnny Dio his passport into the labor movement.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the Senate Rackets Committee's main witness Monday will be Anthony J. Doria, who resigned under fire last year as secretary-treasurer of the Allied Industrial Workers, a catch-all union formerly known as the AFL United Auto Workers.

Kennedy said the committee also wants to know why Doria got an $80,000 going - away present when he left the union in February, 1956. Outgoing union President Earl Heaton testified Friday that Doria got $25,000 cash and promissory notes for the rest. He said Doria is suing to collect the notes.

A special convention of the union in St. Louis, called to comply with AFL-CIO orders for a housecleaning, decided Thursday to try to recover the $25,000 cash from Doria.

The committee will also question Doria about his handling of Dio after the dapper little racketeer became boss of the UAW-AFL's New York operations. The committee has charged that Dio muscled into controls of UAW-AFL Local 102, the union's first New York unit, in 1951-52.

Former union President Lester Washburn has fingered Doria as the man who issued a new charter for the local making Dio an official.

Gus Brickner Returns Home; Still Hopes to Swim Channel

Gus Brickner, back at his Charleroi home, said today that he's still determined to conquer the English Channel.

The 45-year old grandfather, who describes himself as the national cold-water swimming champion, is not discouraged by his Channel failure early this week.

"I was breaking the record when they pulled me out of the water," Gus pointed out. "If I could have kept going even at my slowest speed, I would have set a new cross-channel record."

Gus was taken from the water after covering 13 and one half miles of the channel in five hours and 48 minutes. He was temporarily paralyzed from the waist down.

"At least I didn't quit," he declared. "The crew of the boat with me threw a rope over my head when they saw I couldn't use my legs any more."

Gus said he had no alibies for his failure. However he figures some things were definitely against him.

"Those two postponements really keyed me up," he said. "Then, too, I just wasn't familiar enough with salt water. My trainer and coach agree the salt water cramped my legs."

Brickner said the weather forecast was for strong winds when he started his channel attempt Monday morning.

"We decided to take a chance anyway after two postponements," he revealed. "As it turned out, conditions were ideal. The water was 52 degrees and I was confident all the way until my legs suddenly cramped."

Brickner had only six and a half miles to go to complete the swim. His trainer and coach were excited since they knew he was headed for a world record. The fastest channel swim on history is ten hours and 54 minutes.

Gus said he pondered staying in France for another Channel attempt in September. However all available trainers had commitments with other swimmers.

Brickner said he's like to go back next year. Only the next time he'll spend more time training in salt water.

Gus plans to vacation from work for the next couple of weeks. His cramped legs have all but recov-

Scout Council Reveals Sale of Camp Picco

Camp Picco, a Boy Scout camp located near Gillespie, has been sold by the Westmoreland-Fayette Boy Scout Council, it was announced today.

In announcing the sale, the Council stated:

"After careful study for nearly a year, and the recommendations of the Council Camping Committee and Camp Development Committee, with the advice of a representative of the Regional Executive Committee, and the approval of the surviving trustees and the Council Executive Board, Camp Picco has been sold in accordance with provisions contained in the deed.

"This decision was necessary because of the many problems of supervision, maintenance, liability, and undesirable conditions brought about by persons not authorized to use the property, together with the fact that it is against the long-standing policy of the Council to accept the responsibility for local properties.

"It is the intention of the Council to use the proceeds from the sale of this property to help provide the very latest approved winterized camping facilities for the use of the Troops and Posts at Camp Conestoga.

"The members of these Committees, the trustees and the members of the Executive Board unanimously feel that the action taken was for the best interests of boys and that time will prove the wisdom of the action taken."

The property was purchased from Pittsburgh Coal Co. in the mid 40's.

The Council's announcement did not disclose who purchased the property. Officials could not be located today for further details.

84 NOW — Former President Herbert Hoover looks real chipper for his 84th birthday today in San Francisco. To celebrate, he threw a party for news photographers.

Hoover Observes 84th Birthday 'Thanks to Pills'

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Herbert Hoover began his 84th year today, enjoying "fundamentally good" health but wryly acknowledging his "longevity depends mainly on pills."

The former Republican President told newsmen his hearing was failing but except for a siege of "wonder drug" allergy he has been in top shape since his last birthday.

"After you pass the Scriptural limit of three score and 10 years" he said with a smile, "your longevity depends mainly on pills."

Hoover and three generations of his family were guests at a luncheon aboard the American President liner named in his honor as a highpoint of the observance of his 83rd birthday.

Hoover had comments on practically every subject except politics to offer newsmen at his traditional pre-birthday news conference Friday.

Gov. Describes Drought as Grave

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today described conditions in drought - stricken southeastern Pennsylvania as "genuinely grave" and pledged prompt cooperation by his administration to meet problems of the farmers in the area.

Leader urged counties interested in obtaining federal aid to draft the facts concerning drought conditions in their areas for submission to the Department of Agriculture Disaster Committee. The group will then make its recommendations to the governor, who could call on the federal government to declare drought-stricken districts "disaster areas."

A task force of the department's crop reporting staff has just completed a personal survey of the affected districts.

Rescue Teams Near Mountain Climbers

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (UP) — Rescue teams neared the top of 13,038-foot Mt. Eiger today and one report said the four men trapped just below the peak since Wednesday still were alive.

A rescue official said, "all four men on the Eiger north wall . . . are still alive. They waved at a control plane of the Swiss Alpine Air Rescue Squad early today, but appeared to be completely exhausted."

Three of the four men were sighted huddled on a precipice this morning. The fourth dangled at the end of a 40-foot rope with a 10,000-foot drop beneath him.

Three rescue teams left the Jungfraujoch this morning seeking to reach the top of the Eiger north wall over more easily accessible routes. They hoped to cross the top of the wall and descend 600 feet to the stranded men.

However, one of the rescue teams had to turn back.

Steep Ascent

"The rescue column carrying the heavy equipment is on its way back, as it was unable to pass a dangerous steep ascent," an official said.

He said it probably will make a second attempt over another route, but "that this will take time."

The other rescue teams were reported to be approaching the top of the glacier and were expected to reach the peak later today.

The first rescuers to approach the top spotted three of the stranded climbers huddled together. They reported no movement on the precipice, but the marooned men were not covered by the snow which fell during the night and the rescuers said they appeared to be all right.

10,000 Foot Drop

They last were seen some 950 feet below the 13,038-foot mountain peak. Beneath the dangling man was a 10,000 foot drop. Members of the Swiss Alpine air rescue squad flew within 30 feet of him Friday, but saw no sign of life.

He was injured in a fall from the precipice Wednesday and his companions tried for 90 hours to pull him to safety, but failed.

Rescuers had planned to fly to a spot near the top of Mt. Eiger and then lower members of their party by rope or cable to the trapped climbers. A change of weather Friday brought in a thick blanket of fog and scuttled the plan.

Two of the four men were Germans. The nationality of the others was uncertain but they were believed to be either Austrian or Italian.

Pope Supports Archbishop on Segregation Ban

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII and the Holy See stand squarely behind New Orleans Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel in his condemnation of racial segregation as "morally wrong and sinful," a high Vatican source said today.

The source was commenting on an appeal sent to the Pope by a group of Roman Catholics in the New Orleans diocese. They asked the Pope to support racial segregation.

The source said it was highly unlikely that the Vatican secretariat of state would reply directly to the appeal. If anything, the source said, a reply would be made either through Msgr. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, or through the New Orleans archbishop.

The Vatican source said a formal reply to the New Orleans Assn. of Catholic Laymen was unnecessary because the Pope already had made the church's opposition to racial discrimination crystal clear.

OBITUARIES

CHARLES S. DAVIS

Funeral services were held in Hazelwood yesterday for Charles S. Davis, 82, an early resident of Monessen and formerly traffic manager of the Standard Tin Plate Co., Canonsburg. He died Wednesday at his home in Hazelwood following a stroke.

Mr. Davis left Monessen about 1908 after serving as an agent of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie R. R. here.

A member of various Masonic orders, he is survived by two sons, William B. and Irwin M. Davis, and six daughters: Mrs. Savilla Walker, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Roke, Mrs. Alice Gross, Mrs. Ethel Beatty, Mrs. Edith Waddin and Mrs. Dorothea Beatty. Seventeen grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren also remain.

Mrs. Davis, the former Elizabeth Lotz, died some years ago.

Burial was made in Mt. Vernon Cemetery, Versailles.

MRS. SARAH HOFFMAN

Mrs. Sarah Hoffman, aged 86 years, of Lyonville (Pa.), formerly of Monessen, died yesterday at 6:00 p. m. at her home.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Chester Waddell of Pittsburgh; a son, Frank Wild of Charleroi; a stepson, John Hoffman, of Pittsburgh; six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Friends are being received at the Devlin Funeral Home, 602 Sherman Ave., Northside, Pittsburgh.

Hurricane Blows into Rain Storm

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP) — Tropical storm Bertha, no longer a hurricane, broke down into windy rainstorms today.

The Weather Bureau said the threat of the year's second hurricane was over for the Louisiana-East Texas coastal area, badly hit by hurricane Audrey last June 27.

All warnings were lowered Friday night when the storm lost its driving force. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said heavy rains and strong winds would follow the storm into East Texas. By early today the strongest winds had subsided to 50 miles an hour and less.

Ironically, one of the few reports of damage on land was from Cameron, La., nearly destroyed by hurricane Audrey.

One of the 10 persons who refused to flee from Bertha tried to cook his supper on a makeshift stove

Stove Blows Up

It blew up and destroyed his home and the house next to it. Telephone communications were out to Cameron and it was not known if the destroyed homes were ones originally there or among those hastily thrown up in the debris left by Audrey.

The oil tender Murmanill No. 1 sank in South Timbalier Bay off the Louisiana coast after heavy seas swamped it, but its three crewmen were rescued by the Coast Guard.

Although it was plain Friday Bertha would not be a serious threat, thousands of persons, remembering the horror of hurricane Audrey, fled inland before the storm arrived. At least 3,000 fled from offshore oil rigs alone.

Employers to Up Compensation

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania employers will pay about $2,500,000 additional into the Workmen's Compensation Fund under an average 5 per cent rate increase approved today by the state Insurance Department.

Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith said the new rates, endorsed by the state Compensation Rating Bureau, apply to all policies, except those of coal miners, effective after June 30.

The average increase in rates for manufacturing and utility workers will be 3½ per cent, while contracting and quarry workers' employers pay 9.8 per cent more.

Rates in the federal industry group will be dropped 20 per cent.

Busy Legislatures Still Have Time For 'Little' Things

CHICAGO (UP)— State legislators in one of their busiest years have found time to pass laws affecting minnow pickers and moss gatherers.

Legislative oddities such as these were turned up in quantity in a survey by Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

Now you can be fined $25 to $100 in Nebraska if your clock doesn't show standard time.

Picketing a cemetery during a funeral is illegal in Ohio.

Giving out trading stamps is a crime in Kansas.

In Tennessee it's illegal to use the telephone to embarrass someone. Indiana passed a similar law but made the offense punishable only if it occurs repeatedly.

Cash on liquor prizes at bazaars or raffles are illegal in Connecticut.

Navy Militia

New Hampshire has established a navy militia.

Trying to kill wild birds with salt is illegal under a new law in Michigan, but it's legal now to use firecrackers to frighten birds away from fish hatcheries in Florida.

A legislative committee in Massachusetts is studying the fairest way to tax machinery used for gathering moss.

In Minnesota, dealers in pickled minnows must now comply with the state's requirements for licensing regular minnow dealers.

And Indiana amiably passed a law permitting persons and corporations who are not subject to tax to donate whatever they wish to help pay the state's bills.

Jewel Theft

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP) — One of the singing McGuire sisters, Phylis, reported Friday night that $10,000 in jewels had been stolen from her hotel room. Miss McGuire said the 10 items missing included a five carat diamond necklace and earring set valued at $6,000. She said the theft occurred between Thursday and Friday nights. Police said there was no sign of forced entry in her room

Rooney Separates

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Mickey Rooney, who called it quits with three previous wives, decided Friday to call it "maybe" with his fourth. Rooney and the former Elaine Mahnken Davis have agreed on a trial separation.

Nearby Counties Seek Highway Improvements

Washington and Greene County Commissioners yesterday moved jointly for additional highways improvements of vital concern to the two counties.

The group passed four resolutions concerning Routes 19, 88 and 18 and forwarded them to the state Highways Department and other agencies concerned.

Primary concern was given Route 19, expected to form part of a continuous limited access system from the West Virginia State Line to Erie.

The resolution called for expeditious construction and improvement of Route 19 from Pancake to the West Virginia line. It was pointed out that construction and improvement of Route 19 from Washington to Warrendale and from Warrendale to Mercer, already had state and federal approval. It was more than broadly hinted at the meeting that the southern segment which was the subject of the resolution and the northernly extension from Mercer to Erie would be or already had been approved for inclusion in the federal interstate system which would obtain construction on a 90-10 basis. That is, the federal government would pay 90 per cent and the Commonwealth the remaining 10.

The second resolution called for continued improvement of Route 88 from the Allegheny County line to West Virginia. It was noted that considerable work on this road has already been accomplished between Monongahela and Elco but that it was an economic necessity that the improvement continue to the southern most extension of the road in Greene County.

The third resolution called for improvement and relocation of Route 18 from Washington to Waynesburg. It was suggested that an engineering firm study the location or relocation from Sycamore to Waynesburg so the completed highway would take the best route from Washington by way of Prosperity and Sycamore to Waynesburg.

The fourth road under consideration yesterday was the series of legislative routes from Millsboro in Washington County by way of Clarksville and Mather to Jefferson in Greene County. This route was also the subject of a resolution calling for action by the State Highways Department.

Plan Nuclear Test Tomorrow Morning

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic Energy Commission scientists have tentatively scheduled the firing of the "below nominal" nuclear device "Shasta" for 5 a.m. p.d.t. Sunday, after postponing the shot because of unfavorable wind patterns.

An AEC spokesman said the shot set for today was delayed because winds would have resulted in an unacceptable radioactive fallout over a nearby mining operation

Red Boss Wants Foes Crushed

BERLIN (UP)—Communist Boss N. S. Khrushchev has ordered local Red leaders to crush anti-Communist resistance in Soviet Germany, scene of the first "Hungary-style" revolt against Russian rule.

In Leipzig Friday, Khrushchev called on the Communists in Germany to crush their "class enemies."

"You must not fall asleep," he said. "There must be no reconciliation with other classes."

Khrushchev spoke three times in Leipzig. As elsewhere during his tour of Red Germany, the public response was cool.

Television cameras recording his appearance at a "mass rally" in Leipzig Stadium showed many more seats than people. At least two-thirds of the stadium's 100,000 seats were empty.

Takes Notice

Khrushchev himself took notice of reports that East Germans are less than enthusiastic about his tour. He told militia units paraded before him that Western newspapers probably would say they were forced to march.

"These bourgeois press reports make no impression on us," he said. "We have lived through 40 years of it, and we haven't lived badly."

He promised Red Germany's Stalinist rulers that they can count on the full military support of the Soviet bloc to keep them in power, and assured them they need not fear that they will be swept out of office by free elections.

Khrushchev's call for a crackdown apparently was inspired by the new wave of unrest that has swept Red Germany since Russian armor crushed the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary last year.

POLES PERMITTED MEMORIAL — Polish Gen. Duszynski reads a memorial service at Poland's Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Warsaw as the Poles for the first time are permitted by their Communist government to hold public service for World War II dead.

Library Adds Many New Books

Several interesting books of both fiction and non fiction have been added to the shelves of the Monessen Public Library.

Included are the following:

The Wonderful O, by James Thurber; Gale Force, by Elleston Trevor; The Lady, by Conrad Richter; The Lovely Day, by D. E. Smith.

Practical Radio Servicing, by Marcus and Levy; Three for the Chair, by Rex Stout; Married on Wednesday, by Anne Emery; Magic House of Numbers, by Irving Adler.

Donny, by A. L. De Leeuw; A Child's Book of Dreams, by B. S. De Regniers; The Unhappy Hippopotamus, by Nancy Moore.

St. Vincent Group To Meet Aug. 25

The St. Vincent College Alumni Association will hold its annual Ridge Day outing Sunday, August 25, in the park near St. Boniface Chapel.

Opening a new year of Alumni activities, the Alumni will again play host to the faculty and administration of the College, Seminary, and Preparatory School during the all afternoon and evening affair.

Insect Washed

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit suburb of Ecorse had the cleanest mosquitoes in Michigan today. Public works employe, Ray Wolfe, was flabbergasted when his mosquito spray truck started blowing bubbles Friday. Then he realized he had poured 50 gallons of liquid soap into his spray tank instead of mosquito killer.

Governor Leader Is Critical Of State-Federal Conference

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — Democratic Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania said today a state-federal conference on how to trim the size of the federal government is only "flyspecking."

Leader voiced some concern that the group didn't dig deep enough into the subject during a two-day meeting here to lay the groundwork for shifting some federal functions to the states.

Closed-door sessions were scheduled to end today with a news conference by the co-chairmen, Republican Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire and Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

The group hopes to issue a report on their deliberations by Dec. 1.

The joint committee composed of six governors and seven appointees of President Eisenhower drew up a list of six federal functions which might be handed over to the states—along with eight federal tax sources that could be turned over in whole or in part.

The federal programs included school lunch aid, vocational education, natural disaster relief, water pollution, supplemental old age benefits, and small "stimulative" grants.

Tax Possibilities

Federal taxes which might be made available to states ran from a bigger share of gift and inheritance taxes to the levy on coin-operated amusement and gaming devices.

Leader didn't quarrel with the items taken up on the first day of the conference Friday. But he told reporters he didn't feel the program was ambitious enough.

The Pennsylvania chief executive said he thought the committee also should study broad "emerging" problems, like juvenile delinquency or city growth headaches, and then map plans to deal with them through state, local and federal governments.

Band Concert at Park Tomorrow

A concert by the Belle Vernon Musical Society Band will be presented tomorrow at City Park beginning at 7 p. m.

The musicians will be under the direction of Ernest Dolfi, instructor in music at Bellmar High School.

The concert, sponsored by the Department of Recreation, will include these selections:

The Klaxon March, William Tell Overture, Invercargill March, Three Slippers, My Fair Lady, Bombesto March, Begin the Beguine, National Emblem March and the National Anthem.

President Heads For Golf Course

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower found himself with no scheduled appointments today and then headed for the golf course.

The President left the White House and went to the Burning Tree Club about 8:05 a.m. e.d.t. Light intermittent rain was falling.

Spy Is Guilty

VIENNA (UP)—A former political commentator of Communist Czechoslovakia's state television has been sentenced to 25 years in prison on espionage charges, Prague Radio said today. The broadcast heard here identified him as Vladimir Vesely.

Attend Institute On Credit Unions

Francis Hornbake, vice president, and Joseph Lynch, assistant treasurer, of the Pittsburgh Steel Monessen Employees Federal Credit Union, attended the third annual Credit Union Institute held this week at Pennsylvania State University.

The institute is for credit union employees, directors and committee members. It is sponsored by the Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey and District of Columbia Credit Union Leagues.

Says Teachers Should Spot Student Ills

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) —College is not an essential experience for every high school graduate stated Dr. Elmer R. Noble of the University of California to the Commonwealth Club here.

To fail to send students with a high aptitude to college is educational suicide. But to force the below average student into an environment for which he is unsuited can be equally disastrous, Noble said.

Non-college experiences are more valuable for the below-average student than collegiate ones in which he lags behind his fellow students and may be spoiled for any kind of work.

The American tradition of equal opportunity has been taken by many to mean universal college education. Noble said it should mean rather equal opportunity for all who are capable. Nothing should prevent any American from pursuing any course of study for which he has the intellectual ability and desire.

"The basic and eternal prerequisites for entrance to college are intellectual ability, serious ambition, adequate preparation," he said. All comers cannot be accommodated. Noble estimated that not more than 20 per cent of high-school graduates possess the ability or background required at college. And many of the 20 per cent are unable to attend centers of higher education.

West Newton Drum Corp Wins Award

West Newton American Legion Post 401 was one of the four Class A winners in the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps competition last night at Dauphin High School Stadium at Harrisburg.

The corps were judged on marching, inspection, drumming and general effect, including showmanship and originality.

The crowd of about 8,000 persons favored the Pittsburgh Rockets, Homewood Post 351, and booed when their favorite failed to win. Homewood won fourth place.

Dies in Hiroshima

HIROSHIMA (UP) — Yoshitaro Mizunaga, 72, died here Friday night of a tumor of the liver, the seventh victim this year of the A-bomb dropped on Hiroshima 12 years ago. Doctors said his liver ailment was caused by radiation from the A-bomb blast.

Real Steal

GALENA, Kan. (UP)—Someone stole an outboard motor off Gates Harreld's $340 boat last week. Apparently the same thief remembered he needed something to put it on. So he stole the boat Thursday night.

Polish Subs Are Seen Headed Back to Homeland

By BERT L. MARSH

LONDON (UP)—The two Communist submarines that prowled Britain's northeast coast Friday were somewhere in the North Sea today, apparently headed back to their base in the Red-held Polish port of Gdynia.

The subs, first sighted Thursday night off the Scottish coast a few miles north of the big British submarine base at Rosyth, headed out to sea late Friday.

In Warsaw, a Navy operations officer told the United Press at nightfall Friday that the U-boats had reported by radio that they were on their way back to Gdynia.

The purpose of the subs' cruise along the British coast was unknown. They remained outside the three-mile limit, avoiding any violation of international law.

British press speculation that the crews intended to seek political asylum as refugees appeared to have been disproved by events.

Naval intelligence officers here also discounted the theory that the submarines may have been manned by Russians who were taking them to Egypt.

They pointed out that the U-boats had been identified as vessels of the "M" class—300-tonners carrying a crew of only about 20 men. Such craft, they said, "would have a hard time making the Mediterranean without refueling somewhere."

Admirals Honored

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — Six "raft admirals" were at home today after floating to Mobile and flying back. The six teenage boys made a two-week trip down the Alabama River on a rudderless raft and were given honorary commissions as rear admirals in the Alabama Navy by state Docks Director Knox McRae.

British Papers Scold Royal Family Again

LONDON (UP)—Britain's newspapers criticized the royal family today for allowing young Prince Charles to sail with his father in strong winds and for letting his under-age cousin drive a car.

The 8-year-old heir to the throne narrowly missed a ducking in the harbor at Cowes when Prince Philip's yacht heeled over dangerously.

A few moments later, with the yacht filling with water, Philip hailed a passing barge and transferred the boy to safety. He and the boat's builder, Uffa Fox, brought the craft in.

The London News Chronicle took the royal household to task for the incident.

"Fathers," it asked, "would you take your 8-year-old son sailing in strong winds? What would you say about it, mothers?"

Charles is vacationing with his father and his cousin, Prince Michael of Kent, at Cowes. The 15-year-old Michael was spotted Friday by 50 sightseers, driving a powerful automobile. The legal age for holding a driver's license in Britain is 17.

Switch at Sleep

OWOSSO, Mich. (UP) — A man who nonchalantly stripped off his clothes and went to sleep in front of a bus station has other sleeping quarters today. A municipal judge sentenced William Monroe, 39, to 20 days in jail, for indecent exposure.

Ask Republicans to Back CR Compromise

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Democratic leaders started a drive today to try to break down stiff GOP resistance to a new compromise jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill.

There were some slight signs the Republicans might agree to go along with the compromise.

The Democratic plan is to make only one change in the Senate-passed version of the controversial civil rights measure.

They want to limit the jury trial proviso to apply only to federal criminal contempt cases to punish violations of court-ordered protection of voting rights. The Senate's bill would provide jury trials for criminal contempt cases in all fields.

Key GOP members still insisted the Senate-passed measure got to a Senate-House conference committee to bring it more into line with the broader House-approved measure.

But off the record, some hinted they might be willing to accept the Democratic plan.

Other congressional news:

McElroy: Soap manufacturer Neil H. McElroy has agreed to sell some of his stock holdings to secure quick Senate approval of his nomination as secretary of defense, congressional sources said. They said McElroy agreed to dispose of his stock in general electric and Chrysler Corp. but intended to retain his stock in his own firm, Procter & Gamble. The Senate Armed Services Committee scheduled a meeting next Thursday with McElroy to hear details of McElroy's plans.

Taxes: House Democratic leaders have scheduled a series of meetings next January to hear proposals from the public on how to revamp the nation's tax laws. The Democrats have invited the public to present their views before the tax writing House Ways & Means Committee. Democrats on the committee said they expected the hearings to lead to legislation giving a tax break to individuals.

Veterans: The Senate has unanimously agreed to a bill to grant an average 10 per cent increase in the pensions of disabled veterans and widows. The bill now goes back to the House, which passed a similar measure with only minor technical differences.

Connellsville Man to Head Legion in State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion was expected today to elect John W. Collins, of Connellsville, Pa. as its commander, succeeding Joseph Gavenois, of Mildred.

The World War II veteran is unopposed for the office.

Closing its four-day annual convention here, the legionnaires will hear an address by U.S. Sen. Edward Martin and then adjourn to stage their huge parade.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the convention, Sen. Martin warned that inflation "is the Number One danger to our country."

The former governor said government spending, increased labor costs, and increased borrowing are the major causes of the depreciation of the dollar, called for "drastic controls of wages and prices" and "voluntary restraints on the part of the people" to curb the inflationary spiral.

Martin named "four important objectives" which would promote "a strong and prosperous America." They are:

—Labor must be gainfully employed at wage scales adequate to maintain the American standard of living.

—The farmer must have a profitable market for his product.

—The investor in industry must have a fair return on his investment.

—The dollar must be stabilized

Maj. Gen. A. H. Stackpole, retired commander of Pennsylvania's 79th Army Reserve Division will serve as grand marshall o the parade this afternoon.

Over 1,000 men of the 28th National Guard Division will participate in the parade following special review for Gov. George M Leader and Sen. Martin at Indiantown Gap.

A Bad Practice

THE PRACTICE of doling out ambassadorships to big contributors to political campaigns is receiving a lot of official and public attention just now. And it deserves all the attention it is receiving.

The practice has been followed, of course, by both Democratic and Republican presidents almost from the beginning of the party system. So Adlai Stevenson was being slightly disingenuous the other day when he criticized President Eisenhower's appointment of Maxwell H. Gluck as Ambassador to Ceylon as a "cynical payment" of a political debt. Mr. Stevenson knows perfectly well that plenty of Democratic presidents have made diplomatic appointments which have been no less "cynical".

By the same token, President Eisenhower was less than candid when he pretended to his press conference this week that Mr. Gluck's substantial contributions to the Republican party had nothing to do with his appointment. Mr. Eisenhower keeps himself pretty well aloof from so-called "practical" considerations of politics, but he can't be that aloof.

Notwithstanding the long history of this practice, we believe most thoughtful Americans now thoroughly disapprove of it. There may have been a time in our history when it didn't make a great deal of difference whether a competent man or just a rich one belonging to the party in power served as an ambassador. But that time is certainly behind us now, and it is actually dangerous in many respects to have important diplomatic posts handled as routine political patronage.

But this business is just one aspect of the overall problem of financing political campaigns. Money is playing much too large a role in our politics at all levels, and we need to search earnestly for ways of reducing it.

There is no reason, however, why something cannot be done at once about the ambassadorships. And we hope President Eisenhower will face the question honestly in the light of the lesson he must have learned from the Gluck appointment.

Mr. Blough's Case

WE SUSPECT that Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel, is going to have a hard time getting either public or official opinion to accept his view, expressed to the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, that the price of steel has little or nothing to do with inflation and the cost of living.

Mr. Blough said it is a "myth" and a piece of "national folklore" that a rise in steel prices immediately hits everybody in the pocketbook. Rather, he said, the price of steel and other industrial products plays only a "minor role" in increases in the cost of living.

Well, then, what does make the cost of living go up? Mr. Blough says it is increased wages and other benefits to employes.

What we are up against in this argument, of course, is the old problem as to which came first, the chicken or the egg. And you can make it come out either way depending upon whose statistics you prefer to use and, perhaps, where your own economic interests happen to lie.

Common sense tells us, however, that inflation is a compound of many causes, including prices as well as wages, and including also our characteristic national ambition to have more and more.

It would be well for people like the chairman of U. S. Steel, who make economic decisions of vast import, to quit pretending that their actions don't make much difference. We all bear some responsibility in these matters, and the bigger we are the more responsibility we bear.

Hoffa for Beck?

IT SEEMS hard to believe, after all that has happened, that the delegates to the convention of the Teamsters Union will actually select James R. Hoffa as president to succeed Dave Beck. Yet the consensus is that that is going to happen.

Hoffa, who has openly consorted with known gangsters in his rise to power in organized labor, is definitely stamped as the kind of labor leader who is in the union business for everything he can get — for himself. Ruthless, grasping, dictatorial, his approach to labor-management questions is the antithesis of what the responsible leaders of the labor movement, such as George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, are trying to develop.

The unconscionable conduct of Dave Beck must surely have opened the eyes of members of the Teamsters Union as it opened the eyes of the public. And that they would now replace Beck with a man of Hoffa's calibre and associations — well, how cynical can you get?

Merry-Go-Round—

Diplomatic Posts 'Sold' to Contributors

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite President Eisenhower's angry denial that he ever appointed an ambassador because of political contributions, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had discovered quite by accident that the State Department clears every diplomatic appointment with the Republican National Committee.

Mr. Pearson

A State Department stenographer made a slip and sent the wrong letters to Foreign Relations Chairman Theodore Green (D., R. I.). The letters were supposed to have been sent to the ranking Republican, Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. Instead, Democratic Senator Green was assured on two occasions that ambassador-nominees had been cleared with the Republican National Committee.

Green has now demanded to know whether the State Department or the Republican National Committee is running our diplomatic service.

The Foreign Relations Committee is also tracing the political contributions of key ambassadors and finds overwhelming evidence that Ike just didn't know what he was talking about or else wasn't telling the truth when he said campaign contributions didn't influence diplomatic appointments. The committee's findings indicate that diplomatic posts are put on the auction block and almost sold for cash on the barrelhead to campaign contributors.

Roll-call of Money-raisers

The chief money-raiser for last year's campaign, GOP National Treasurer J. Clifford Folger, was appointed Ambassador to Belgium. He and his wife not only raised money, but gave $10,500 out of their own pockets. Aside from his money-raising ability, Folger has no other known qualification for handling foreign affairs.

Total contributions of $8,500 have been traced to James David Zellerbach's immediate family. He's the California paperbox king who was named Ambassador to Italy, a juicy diplomatic plum.

Ike's new Ambassador to France, Amory Houghton, coughed up $6,000 and his son gave another $2,500. John Hay Whitney, Ambassador to Britain, has long been a big Republican contributor. Ten contributions have been traced to him and his wife, totaling $30,000. Other family members also donated heavily to the 1956 campaign.

The former Ambassador to Denmark, Robert T. Coe, got his job after contributing to the Eisenhower campaign in 1952. He reportedly was asked for a more substantial donation in 1956. The records show his family scraped up $6,190.

"It was more than that. I doubled my 1952 contribution," Coe told this column by long-distance phone from his home in Cody, Wyo. But apparently it wasn't enough; he was kicked out as ambassador.

Coe admitted he was surprised at his replacement, but denied it had anything to do with his campaign offering.

"Don't you get me in trouble in Washington," he said.

Money Is Hard to Trace

It's no secret that only a percentage of the actual campaign contributions are officially recorded. The balance is often passed under the table. All Ike's non-career ambassadors are known to have donated to the political pot.

However, it's difficult to trace the individual contributions. For example, Jefferson Patterson, Ambassador to Uruguay, gave $4,000 to the Eisenhower campaign in Dayton, Ohio. The records also show another $20,000 contributed by Jefferson Patterson and his wife in Washington.

Robert Thayer, Ambassador to Romania, is listed as donating $1,000 via the American Embassy in Vienna, Austria. Two contributions of $1,000 and $2,000, respectively, have been traced to Mrs. Thayer in Vienna. Still another $2,000 shows up in the record, contributed by Mrs. Thayer in Washington.

The evidence clearly shows that the political spoils system is followed in handing out diplomatic posts. This may explain why the United States has suffered so many diplomatic setbacks.

Note — The man who stirred up the controversy over political ambassadors, Maxwell Gluck admitted contributing $36,000 to two Eisenhower campaigns. He was a close friend and associate of Ben Javits, attorney brother of Sen. Jack Javits of New York. Senator Javits didn't want to appoint Gluck from New York, so arranged with his Republican Senate friends from Kentucky to appoint him from that state, because Gluck kept a racing stable in Kentucky.

Senate Bill Called Good

By WALTER LIPPMANN

It is not, it seems to me, a true reading of what has happened about civil rights to suppose that the Senate has taken a good and a strong bill and has made it into a poor and a weak one. The Senate version is, on the contrary, a far better bill than the one brought forward by Mr. Brownell and accepted in the House.

Mr. Lippmann

The radical vice of the original bill is that it promises more than the President and the Attorney General can in fact perform. It invests the federal executive with nominal power and an enormous mandate, that of compelling the southern states to cease and desist from all violation of civil rights, including segregation in the public schools. Because the bill promises so much more than the federal executive can possibly do, it is fair to say that it was drafted not by statesmen seriously concerned with the civil rights of southern Negroes, but by northern politicians concerned with the vote of northern Negroes.

For if the President were to do what innocent supporters of the Brownell bill have been led to expect him to do, he would find himself embroiled all over the deep South in fierce legal battles and popular commotions. Such a massive federal intervention, as the House bill calls for, would surely provoke a sectional resistance which would divide the country and would embitter the human condition of the South.

Escaped Turmoil

And if the President hesitated and was cautious, he would be charged with violating his oath of office. He would be subject to all manner of demagogic pressure and to popular reprisals. If President Eisenhower had understood the problem, he would now be congratulating himself on the defeat of the House bill. For he has escaped the stresses and the strains, the turmoil and the trouble, which passage of that bill would have brought upon him. He would have found himself obligated to do quickly by widespread legal coercion what can in fact be done, as he well knows, only gradually by the evolution of opinion.

The great virtue of the Senate's bill is that it reduces the responsibility of the executive branch of the government to a manageable size. The responsibilities are manageable because the Senate bill registers an historic event — namely, an agreement with the big political leaders of the South that the time has arrived to secure and protect by federal intervention the civil rights of qualified Negroes to vote.

The reason the Senate bill is really "stronger" than the House bill is that underneath the powers granted to enforce the critical civil right to vote there is the agreement to acquiesce and to comply in the acknowledgment of that right. The Senate bill can be enacted without a filibuster. What this signifies is that it can be used effectively without provoking the resistance of a more or less united South.

Whether the Senate bill will be used effectively depends not on Congress but on the administration — on whether it is disinterested, on whether it is lucid, and on whether it has the imagination to make the most of what the Senate leaders have conceded. Led by Senator Russell, of Georgia and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, they have acknowledged the constitutional right of qualified Negroes to vote and they have accepted the principle that the federal government has the right and the duty to intervene to protect this right.

Bill Has Defects

To reject this concession, to treat it as uninteresting and unimportant, would be stupid and foolish. The Senate bill, precisely because it is based on such wide consent in the South, differs not in degree but in kind from the Brownell draft and the House bill.

The bill has certain defects, which are quite incidental, most importantly, the jury trial amendment should be limited to the field covered by the bill itself — namely hte protection and the securing of the right to vote. Without sacrificing anything of principle or of substance, the Senate should agree to correct this mistake.

If that is done, there will be no ground on which the House can reasonably reject the Senate bill. There will be none on which the President can veto it. For the bill is not only a great advance in the civil rights of the southern Negroes. It is a very great advance in the concurrence on a dangerous issue of the nation as a whole.

Tourists Can Make Friends for America

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

One of the best governmental actions to be taken in a long time in Washington, in my judgment, is that personal letter from President Eisenhower now being received by all Americans planning travel abroad, including members of the armed forces.

This letter goes to every person who is issued an American passport. And in very simple terms, it urges these folks to "help mold the reputation of our country" by their personal conduct while they are in foreign countries.

". . . As the holder of this passport," the letter reads, "you will be the guest of our neighbors and friends in the world family of nations.

". . . As you travel abroad, the respect you show for foreign laws and customs, your courteous regard for other ways of life, and your speech and manner help to mold the reputation of our country. Thus, you represent us all in bringing assurance to the people you meet that the United States is a friendly nation and one dedicated to the search for world peace and to the promotion of the well-being and security of the community of nations."

How true are the President's words!

Diplomats Concerned

On trip through Europe and the Middle East in 1953, I had occasion to talk with numerous American diplomatic representatives in about a dozen countries. And I was told many, many times that one of the chief difficulties they experience in "selling" the United States stems from the poor impression made by thoughtless American tourists.

Among the specific things that were mentioned to me was an attitude on the part of some Americans that they were "slumming"; that people who do not speak English well are illiterate or, at least, quaint; that money is an adequate substitute for courtesy; that customs and practices which are different from those in America are thereby inferior. And so on.

In the course of our trip we observed many examples of this sort of conduct. I remember being in the lobby of a small but well known hotel on the outskirts of Cairo, Egypt. when a party of Americans on a side excursion from an expensive Mediterranean cruise made an entrance.

They demanded attentions obviously beyond the capacity of the hotel staff. Several were impatient when their idiomatic English was not promptly understood. There were open guffaws at the dress of the porters. Although the great pyramids of Cheops rose within a stone's throw, these people were much more interested in the souvenir counter.

Not Typical Americans

Such folks are not typical Americans, of course. But try to tell that to the functionaries of that hotel!

There is no way to exaggerate the importance of such impressions. They are apt to be far more durable than the most effective government propaganda ever invented. The conduct of just one thoughtless American can poison the thinking of a whole group of foreigners against everything American, including America's international policies.

President Eisenhower's admonition ought to be taken seriosly to heart by every American who plans to travel outside this country. And because more Americans than ever are going abroad each year (about 600,000 this year alone), his appeal will have increasing importance.

Americans need not be apologetic about their nationality when they are abroad. They needn't try to hide the fact that they are Americans and proud of it.

All that is required is modest, courteous, respectable, dignified conduct. And everytime that can be managed, the standing of the United States in the world will be enhanced.

In The Open—

Countryside in Grip Of 'Summer's Passion'

By JOHN H. DAY

For endless days the sun had glared across the countryside like an evil eye. Bare rocky bones of the wide valley streams lay bleaching in their beds, while panting cattle laved their lazy feet in the few remaining pools. Row crops, hopefully planted in the good earth by hopeful farmers, stood stunted and water-starved in forlorn ranks. Even the winds had gone off somewhere to die, leaving no cloud in the brazen sky to hint of Nature's grief.

The weekend brought still another day of torpor in the sullen heat of summer's passion. I trudged down a country roadway where the very air was brown because of its great thirst. Yet this road had once been a part of April. The hot blue valleys of the summer sky sloped down above me, so near it seemed that I could burn my fingers on the searching sun.

Far overhead a lone red-tailed hawk soared and circled in wide sweeps as he rode the heated updrafts. Apparently he was hunting lunch, for he kept close in against the timbered hills. I watched him for a long time, envying his relaxed, magnificent command of the air currents which gave him that lazy buoyancy.

Tangle of Weeds

The roadside was cluttered with the dusty tangle of tall midsummer weeds. I noted tick trefoil, common milkweed, pigweed, ragweed, evening primrose, chicory, Queen Ann's lace and a host of others in the fervent scramble for a place in the sun. Over all lay the gray pall of stifling dust. I could trace the course of a startled rabbit by the dust falling from those tangled weeds.

Great tall spires of Joe-Pye weed, blooming in the roadside edgings, produced patches of cool pink against the seared background of withered flower and leaf. Low pasture spots were overrun with ironweed, which cattle will not eat. The gorgeous purple flowers defied the worst efforts of sun and drouth, spreading a colorful table for flies and bees and butterflies. I felt cooler just looking at those ironweed patches.

I stood on an iron bridge and watched the "shiners" turning in the murky pool below. So shrunken are the streams that minnows by the score are congregated in every little cup of water along the way. Here they fell easy prey to water snake and kingfisher, and finally many of them die when the sun licks up the last few pitiful drops of their watery retreat.

Above the bridge, by a deeper, stagnant pool, I sat in the shade for a time while my shirt clung damply and mosquitoes improved their knowledge of human anatomy. A wood pewee, working from a dead branch over the water, did his best to hold down the mosquito population. The hawk came soaring back overhead, screaming as he soared, his rather weak voice sounding like escaping steam.

Sunflower in Bloom

The minty bergamot, and the meadow-rue, and a tall wild sunflower bloomed all about me in the creek edgings. The surface of the pool was in constant torment as the shoals of minnows scurried about on urgent business or imagined alarms. Peculiar gyrations above the surface turned out to be the movements of crayfish, probably feeding on some bits of flesh they had discovered.

It seemed as I sat there that the pulsing heat throbbed on and on, getting hotter, if possible, by the minute. In my mind's eye I could see desperate farmers, all through that hill country, watching their acres cringe and crack beneath those lethal rays, sighing hopelessly as they scanned the horizon for the rain clouds which never came. Gorgeous butterflies, the big tiger swallowtail, the red admiral, and a host of smaller fellows, held carnival over something which attracted them to the steamy inferno of the dry stream bed. They didn't mind the heat, but I did. Gathering my lazy bones together, I brushed through the cloud of hungry mosquitoes and got out of there.

Dessert Bridge at Mon Valley Club

Dessert refreshments were served to 115 members and guests on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 when the Women's Golf Association entertained at a dessert bridge at the Monongahela Valley Country Club

The guests were seated at card tables laid in white and centered with crystal bud vases holding an arrangement of Queen Anne's lace. The vases were given as high score awards to the winners of the table prizes.

Driftwood and garden greens were used as the mantle decorations in the club house. Mrs. Olan Y. Williams, of Monongahela, was in charge of decorations.

Guest Awards

There were special guest awards given to Mrs. Frank Kurylo, Mrs. Hinklie, Mrs. Geary, Mrs. John Tregombo, Mrs. Paul Ivill, Estelle White, Mrs. Jules Monack, Lorrain Dacko, Mrs. Walter Scott, Mrs D. Glunt, Mrs. Bialos, Mrs. C. B. Lamp and Mrs. Richard Lawson.

There were several aides who assisted the committee in charge in serving refreshments. They were Suzie and Jane Williams and Ann Hutchison, of Monessen, Mary Hanigan, Lois Ann McHugh and Marjorie Roule, of Monongahela.

Mrs. Howard E. Horinckel, of Monongahela, was general chairman of the affair with Mrs. Russell J. Ruff, of Donora, as co-chairman.

Name Committee

Others on the committee were Mrs. John E. Boyer and Mrs. Thomas W. Jones, of Finleyville; Mrs. Jules Monack, of Charleroi; Mrs. James J. Salay, of Belle Vernon; Mrs. Michael J. Skirpan, Jr., of Monessen; Mrs. H. B. Spedden, of Donora; Mrs. Arnold Miale, Mrs. George F. Roule, Mrs. Charles S Warne and Mrs. Olan Y. Williams, all of Monongahela.

Breuer-Corrin July Nuptials Are Announced

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Ruth Adele Breuer and Harry M. Corrin, which took place on Wednesday, July 31, in the First Methodist Church of Charleroi.

Close relatives and friends were present for the simple ceremony, which was read at 6:30 p. m. by the Rev. Robert Laing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Breuer, of Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Corrin, of Monongahela.

Mrs. Miriam Donovan, church organist, played a prelude of nuptial selections before the bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. Mrs. Donovan also sang "O Perfect Love."

White gladiolus and tall lighted tapers decorated the church altar.

The bride wore a light blue lace wedding dress, which was fashioned street length. She wore a matching bonnet shaped hat, and carried a Bible topped with a white orchid.

Monica Ferrari, of Monongahela, was the maid of honor. She wore pale pink lace with a matching hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Ernest Breuer, brother of the bride, was best man, and serving as usher was Theodore Breuer, of Ford City.

The mother of the bride wore light blue embroidered voile and Mrs. Corrin wore pale gray. Both wore pink rosebud corsages.

The wedding supper was served at Century Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Corrin plan to reside at 729 East Main St., Monongahela, after their wedding trip.

A graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers College, the bride is a teacher in the Monongahela Schools. Her husband, a University of Pittsburgh Pharmacy School graduate, is head pharmacist at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

WEARING THEIR HATS — Pictured are some of the children who took part in the hat contest held this week by the Monessen Recreation Department in the various city playgrounds. Snapped at the Jefferson playground as they modeled the hats they made were Carol Patronas, Kathy Petrosky, Kathleen Greco, Denise Mori, Cheryl Laatu and Diane De Marino.

Hat Show Conducted As Special Events Feature

The Department of Recreation sponsored a hat contest this week as the final special event of the season. Mrs. Glenda Stanley, who was in charge of the arts and crafts program at the playgrounds supervised the affair.

Children from the Civic Center, Linden, Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln playgrounds took part.

The hats were handmade and were then modeled by the young folks.

Winners included Patty Polentini, Dorene Seykoski, Dennis Dellamalva, Chuckie Kellar, Jimmy Dudas, Joan Yanachik, Alice Jean Desmarlo, Diane Gogal, Richard Yanachik, Darla Yanachik and Eleanor Skira.

More Winners

Also Daryl Tarquinio, Carol Povich, Carol Patronas, Vickie DuJardin, Denise Mori, Cheryl Laatu, Diane DeMarino, Kathleen Greco, Diane Knox, Selma Wade, Nadine Bronson and Teresa Callahan.

In all there were 97 participants in the contest. An individual event was held at each of the participating playgrounds. There were prizes given for the largest hat, the smallest hat, the most original, the funniest and the "hit of the show". Mrs. Stanley visited each playground to conduct the event

The hat show was arranged as part of the special events program arranged to highlight the local playground season. Frederic Feldman is special events chairman.

Women's Groups At Mt. Calvary Plan Program

Plans have been completed for the presentation of a musical program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church. The presentation will be sponsored by the Nurses Board, the Pastor's Aide and the Busy Bee Club of the church.

The program will include vocal solos, piano selections and other solo numbers by local musicians and several guests. There will also be numbers by the Senior Choir and the Junior Choir of the church.

Lynne E. Swaney, Bride-elect of Alan McConnell

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swaney, of Graham Ave., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lynne Eleanor, to Alan McConnell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McConnell, Sr., of Edgewood.

Mr. McConnell chose the date of the wedding anniversary of his parents, Aug. 9, to present Miss Swaney with her ring, and reveal their betrothal.

The bride-elect is a senior student at Allegheny General Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh. She has just completed three months special training at Western Psychiatric Hospital in Oakland, and is spending a brief vacation at her home.

Her fiance, recently returned from serving two years in the U. S. Marine Corps. He will begin his senior year in the School of Business Administration at the University of Pittsburgh this fall.

No definite wedding plans have been announced by the couple.

Future Musials Enjoy Knothole Trip

Local youth league players really enjoyed the Knot Hole Day at Forbes Field Thursday. No less than three busloads of future Stan Musials, Mickey Mantles, Ted Williams, etc, left from here under the supervision of Department of Recreation Special Events Director Frederic Feldman and Recreation Department supervisors . . . Upon their return from the game the Prep and Minor Leaguers will swing into their playoff action. At least the Prep League will, the Minors' depends on what kind of finish that loop experiences. It has been a very successful season for both those circuits under Supervisor John Dacko. The Little and PONY circuits have completed their cards.

Donora High School's assistant football coach Moon Clark, who also writes a column for a Donora newspaper, writes that despite all precautions you can't prevent ankle injuries to gridders. Writes Moon, "Covering the ankle doesn't help. In fact I remember a guard at our field who ran over to get his picture taken at the end of the season and sprained his ankle on the way over." Hmmmm! . . . The Trenton International Speedway in Trenton, N. J. is planning a 500-mile auto race for Labor Day patterned after the Indianapolis race held annually on Memorial Day. In fact Indianapolis drivers will compete in the race.

Couchenour New West Newton Aide

Robert Cochenour of Sewickley Township has been named the new assistant football coach and junior high basketball coach at West Newton High School. Coughenour is a California Teachers College grad. He will assist new head grid mentor Andy Yartin . . . Thomas Cox, of Monongahela, who played on some of those recent top-notch soccer teams at Monongahela High, was also elected a teacher in the West Newton system. He will not coach. Tom's brother is Fred, the one-man Wildcat grid "team" of last season, now headed for Pitt.

A major glass company is proudly proclaiming that the 1957 National Open golf event was won with fiberglas glass clubs. Made from a glass yarn woven into glass cloth for reinforcement of the shafts, they were used by Billie Burke to win at, of all places, Toledo, considered the "glass capital of the world," or so the Chamber of Commerce bulletins from that area state . . . Willie Mays and Aaron of the Braves will head an All-Star baseball team which will play a series of games in Panama, Nicaragua and possibly Columbia and Venezuela. No doubt about it, the diamond sport is becoming very international by leaps and bounds. Although the sport is already played in the areas mentioned here it is fast blossoming out in other areas of the world.

Hamer Again All-Star Game Official

Did you recognize Fayette City's Jim Hamer as one of the five officials working the New York Giants College All-Star game last night. Jim, a popular valley official for over 30 years, has received the All-Star honor several times now . . . Speaking of veterans in the grid sport, Amos Alonzo Stagg, the Grand Old Man of Football, celebrated his 95th birthday the other day. He still finds time to give advice on the practice field at Stockton Junior College in California. He had some great teams at Chicago and some dandys at College of the Pacific. He and Mrs. Stagg will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary today. She was 81 this week and still gives Dad a hand on the field just as she used to when he coached actively.

Ex-Champ Braddock Cites Lack of Fighters

By JAMES J. BRADDOCK
Former Heavyweight Champion

Written for the United Press

NEW YORK (UP) — It was a little different when I was fighting.

In 1935, when I won the title as a 20-1 shot against Max Baer, the heavyweight division was loaded with names and there was a young fellow called Joe Louis threatening everybody with a pair of dynamite-laden fists. I was to get to know Joe Louis fairly intimately two years later.

When you've got names like Louis and Baer and good foreign fighters like Max Schmeling and Paulino Uzcudun to add an international flavor, you've got a pretty good start towards prosperity. Those names aren't around today and people are crying that boxing is dead. It has always been theory that without a good heavyweight division, boxing sleeps and dies. That isn't entirely true and never has been.

A "Dream" Fight

Take the bout between Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio that the International Boxing Club is putting on at the Yankee Stadium on Monday, Sept. 23. It is a fight that would fit in whether it was in my time or yours. This is the "dream" fight that the public will pay for and it doesn't matter what the price of admission is. They'll go and see it because it has every element of punch, skill, drama and suspense.

This kind of match doesn't come along too often. It would compare to a Harry Greb-Mickey Walker fight, or Billy Petrolle-Jimmy McLarnin for excitement potential.

Promoters today have to do the best with the available talent, just as they did years ago, although there was much more talent available then.

That doesn't excuse the Floyd Patterson - Peter Rademacher match that is being fought for the "heavyweight" title in Seattle on Aug. 22. There's no excuse for that one and it should be billed strictly as an exhibition if it has to be done at all.

As the so-called "Cinderella man" of boxing it is difficult for me to eliminate a chance for Rademacher but that chance is so slim, it would have to be a miracle. I was a professional, of more or less proven ability. Rademacher has never fought as a professional and his reputation as an amateur fighter, I have been told by writers who covered the recent Olympic Games, is not that of a great fighter, or even a very good one. Perhaps Patterson isn't great, as yet, but he is the best professional fighter among the heavyweights.

Should Fight Best

How would I rate the future of the heavyweight division?

My opinion of Patterson is that he can achieve some measure of recognition as champion only if he fights the best. I feel that Eddie Machen is the best right now. He would not only be a test for Patterson but would constitute a threat because of his punch. After Machen, the class is virtually even. The "oldsters" like Nino Valdes, Archie Moore, Bob Satterfield are outsiders in the field.

MVL Commissioner Fines Ozarks

Locals Miss Final Game; Franchise Lifting Threatened

Commissioner George Kuvinka of the Mon Valley League today fined the Monessen Ozarks $10, plus the cost of the umpires' fee for last night's Ozark-Fayette City game and threatened to lift the locals' MVL franchise.

All of this developed out of the Ozarks failing to appear at Fayette City for their last game of the season.

"Although the Ozarks still had a slim chance at a playoff berth they apparently felt the odds were too great and did not bother to show," Kuvinka reasoned.

The angered Commissioner further stated that "after the fine way the Monessen team conducted itself this season it certainly is a black mark that they would do this on the final night of action."

By assuring Fayette City the 7-0 forfeit victory the locals gave the Legionnaires the pennant despite a Charleroi victory over Donora 3-0. New Eagle blasted West Newton 12-0 in the only other game played last night.

Thus the finish for the 1957 season shows Fayette City first, Charleroi second, Perryopolis third and New Eagle fourth.

Kuvinka announced playoff plans with action opening tomorrow afternoon at Fayette City when fourth-place New Eagle plays the league-leaders. Monday it'll be Perryopolis at Charleroi and then a "staggered" card of Fayette City at New Eagle on Wednesday and Charleroi at Perry on Thursday and alternating each day until the five game series is completed. The eventual winners will meet in a best-of-seven series.

At West Newton last night it was a three-hitter by Steve Lomago which featured the win for New Eagle plus heavy-hitting by all teammates. Fred Cox, Lomago and Joe Reale paced the attack sith doubles, Cox going four for four.

At Donora Fred Briggs tossed a four-hitter and Donora contributed some faulty fielding to give the Charleroians their 3-0 win. Briggs fanned six but also walked six.

Donora loaded the bases in the third but couldn't punch across a run.

The fifth inning saw Charleroi score its three runs on three singles, two errors and a double by Carmen Cappelli.

Registration Time For Vocationals

Candidates for the Vocational team of the local Midget Football League are to register at 10 o'clock Monday morning at Vocational playground.

The registration is for those candidates living in the Hilltop Firemen and Park Plan areas between the ages of 10 and 12 years, Coach Bucky Lutes announced today.

Ravens, MPSA in CSL Wins

Winners in last night's City Softball League double-header at City Park were the MPSA and Ravens entries who measured PNA and Myfords respectively.

In the first game MPSA topped PNA, 3-1, in a pitchers duel between Harrison Spencer of the winners and Paul Petrusky of the losers. Spencer gave up five hits to eight for Petrusky.

Fast Start For Winners

The eventual winners started fast with two runs in the first inning when Dick James singled, followed by a hit baseman and successive singles by Jim Mormon and Herb Mills.

PNA tallied its lone marker in the top of the second on a single by George Lovich, who worked his way to third and then scored on a sacrifice fly.

One more MPSA run came in the fifth on Dale Simpson's triple and an error.

Top hitters were Simpson, Ed Lea and Milford Holmes, the latter two clubbing doubles while Shorty Skowronski's double was best for the losers.

The second contest found the Ravens staying in contention for a playoff berth with a 7-3 win triumph over second-place Myfords, in a game curtailed by darkness in the sixth inning.

Walks Produce Runs

Five runs in the first two frames were enough for victory actually as Jesse Kunka and Ed Chuprinko combined to hurl a one-hitter although issuing six walks. The Myfords scored three runs in the third without getting a hit thanks to the free tickets.

Heavy hitting on the part of the Ravens saw five of the seven safe blows go for extra-bases, Andy Kalie hitting a double and hamer, Jim Cherocci a homer for the winners and Bob Mascetta, Kalie, and Chip DeFelicis doubles.

Action resumes Monday with twin bills again carded for next week.

Brooklyn Bumps Bucs Deeper into Cellar

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates were knocked deeper into the depths of despondency Friday night in a 4-2 loss to Brooklyn.

A limping Duke Snider, back in the lineup for the first time in a week, displayed deception and power to shake the Dodgers out of a three-game losing streak. Snider has been disabled with a twisted leg.

The clever centerfielder pulled the play of the evening in the fourth inning that put the Dodgers ahead to stay.

He was on second base with Pee-Wee Reese on third when Carl Furillo singled off loser Bob Friend.

Reese scored easily and Snider followed him plateward, but slowed down momentarily when third baseman Gene Freese's relay throw appeared to have him beaten.

But Snider's perfect "fake" distracted catcher Hank Foiles, who dropped the ball, and Duke scored.

Snider then opened a two-run eighth by blasting his 27th homer of the year into the right field stands.

Pittsburgh got to winner Danny McDevitt for one run in the opening inning on singles by Roberto Clemente and Billy Virdon and a groundout by Bob Skinner.

When the Pirates threatened in the ninth in which they scored their final run, McDevitt was relieved by Sandy Koufax who retired the sides.

For Friend, it was his 15th loss of the year.

The Pirates meet Brooklyn today with Bob Purkey (10-8) pitching against Don Drysdale (9-6).

Minors Playoff; All-Stars Set

A playoff for first place in the local Little League Minors was necessitated by the Pirates clobbering the Yankees 16-7 yesterday.

Tuesday the Braves battle the Yankees in the last regular scheduled game of the season and Wednesday it's All-Star game time when the first and third place All-Stars will play the second and fourth place stars. These positions will be decided after Monday's and Tuesday's games.

Mike Kootsouradis' homer for the Yankees and Major Corley's two doubles for the Pirates were the big blows in yesterday's games.

Following are the names of the All-Star team members: Yankees — Michael Hreno, Floyd Faulks, Michael Kootsouradis, John Mutschler, Richard Albert and Gerald Vitale; Braves — Danny Cosner, Ronald Junk, Kenny Powlosky, Alfred Little, Dennis Yonkosky and Robert Kerns; White Sox Raymond Roskos, Mark Kotys, Andrew Temoshenka, Terry O'Toole, Larry Williams, Francis Hnatko; Pirates — Major Corley, Maurice Wade, Eugene Suomela, Dennis Tallerico, Albert Czelen, Larry Nuzzacci and Jacob Zeidman.

TCSL In Playoffs Monday

President Ted Nichols of the Tri-County Softball League has announced the playoff schedule for that circuit with the championship play opening Monday. Four teams will meet in the best-of-three semi-finals on a "staggered" basis.

Pennant winning Monongahela and the local Monessen CIO entry will meet in their opener Monday at The Mounds in Monongahela, followed by the Roscoe-Pricedale contest Tuesday at Roscoe.

Monongahela and Monessen will battle again Wednesday at Monessen, while Pricedale and Roscoe will move to Lynnwood on Thursday.

The sites for the third games will be decided later, after the results of the first two games are in, Nichols said.

St. Vincent Coach At BV Breakfast

St. Vincent College's Al DuLuca, who is equally adept as a speaker as he is as a grid mentor will address the St. Sebastian Holy Name Society of Belle Vernon tomorrow morning at Celapino's Restaurant.

The members of the society will gather at Celapino's following the 9 o'clock mass.

This is the second "big breakfast" for the Belle Vernon group. Last year Fritzie Zivic delivered the main address.

Officers of the society, St. Sebastian priests and other HNS members will also be featured on the program.

Blackhawks 'One-Up' In Prep Playoffs

Dan Barton's two-hitter put the Blackhawks one-up on the Hilltops in Prep League play yesterday as the Hawks blanked the Toppers 9-0 in the opener of their three-game playoff series.

Mike Kunsa of the winners and Tom Churan of the losers doubled for the only extra base blows.

Barton fanned 15 and walked only one batter.

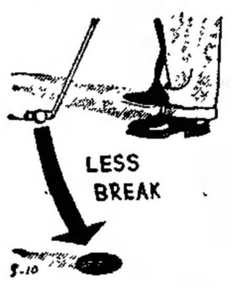
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Wet Greens

Whenever you are playing during or right after a rain, and there is a coat of water on the green, you should cut down on the amount of break you allow on sidehill putts.

The reasoning here is that the ball will be rolling THROUGH the grass and the coating of water, which will tend to make the ball hold to the line you start it on. Remember that the ball takes the full apparent break only when it rolls along ON TOP of the grass.

Another factor to be taken into consideration in putting on wet greens is that you will have to hit the ball somewhat harder to get it to the hole than you would if the grass were dry. The harder you hit the putt, the less overall break is needed to be played. The speed of the putt in its early stages will hold it on line to some extent.

What this all amounts to, without going too deeply into it, is that a new and slightly different approach is needed whenever the

West Penn Won By 'Birdie' on 18th Hole Putt

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The West Penn Women's golf tournament ended dramatically Friday as Mrs. H.S. Semple birdied the 18th hole with a 27-foot putt to defeat Jane Martin, 1 up.

For Mrs. Semple, of Allegheny Club, it was the third West Penn victory. She won the title in 1954 and 1955.

Miss Martin, of Oakmont, was vieing for her fourth West Penn championship, a feat accomplished only once in the past.

The closely contested battle produced hot competition right down to the final putts.

Mrs. Semple took the lead with a par five on number two but gave it back on the next hole. Through the 11th hole Miss Martin had a slight edge, but Mrs. Semple squared the match at the 12th.

At the 16th hole, Miss Martin was ahead, but Mrs. Semple came through to win the 17th and 18th holes in a dramatic finish.

Johnson Quits CFL, Joins Steelers

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP) — Curley Johnson, a 185-pound back has decided to quit Canadian football and join the Pittsburgh Steelers, it was announced Friday.

Johnson, who starred with Houston University, was the Steelers No. 7 draft choice last winter. Following the draft, an advance payment was sent to him but he returned it and decided to play with the Edmonton Eskimos in Canada.

Johnson is expected in camp here sometime during the weekend.

'Old Man' Conerly Sparks Giants to 22-12 Victory Over College All-Stars

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UP) — An "old man's know-how" pulled the New York Giants to a 22-12 win over the 1957 College All-Stars in the 24th battle between the best of the pros and the standout collegians.

Chucking Charlie Conerly, a 33-year-old Mississippian with nine years of experience with the National Football League champions, wasted no motions in spurring his team from behind to win.

His chief assistants were Ben Agajanian, 38, a place - kicking specialist, and Ken MacAfee, 28, an end. MacAfee, who has averaged one touchdown for every four passes caught in pro competition, hauled in only three of Conerly's efforts Friday night, but two of them went for touchdowns on gains of 38 and 10 yards.

When Conerly's passing attack slipped, Agajanian produced. In addition to making the conversions after each touchdown, he booted field goals of 33 and 45 yards, the latter only one yard short of the All-Star Game record.

In all, Conerly hit on eight of 17 passes for 124 yards, most of the Giants passing gains of 160 yards.

This attacking group, though, had to share honors with the defense. In the second half the All-Stars gained only seven yards rushing and 62 passing and but for Paige Cothrens 24 - yard field goal, they would have been held scoreless.

Cothren, from Mississippi also, kicked a 12-yard field goal earlier, while another southerner, Billy Ray Barnes of Wake Forest, ran two yards for the All-Star touchdown.

Barnes was the running threat of the collegians, picking up 60 yards in 11 carries with one rush of 29 yards, to lead all ball carriers in average gains.

It was the 17th win for the pro team in the annual game which opens the pro exhibition season. The collegians have won seven with two ties.

Friday night's crowd of 75,000 got almost as much exercise as the players as rain fell for 30 minutes before the kickoff, delaying the game for 10 minutes, and on four separate occasions later. Each time the stands virtually emptied.

Coach Curly Lambeau of the All-Stars, who suffered his third defeat in the game and his second as the collegiate coach, blamed the rain for the loss. "It ruined our offense," he said, "because we were geared for split-second timing and we couldn't do it on the wet field."

Johnny Longden Injured; Nears End of Career

DEL MAR, Calif. (UP)—Johnny Longden, the world's oldest, richest and winningest jockey, neared the end of the trail today after suffering a double break in his right leg at Del Mar race track.

The 47-year-old rider, who has collected 5,090 victories in more than a quarter of a century of horse racing, lay in Scripps Memorial Hospital at nearby La Jolla —with no misgivings about Friday's accident that may sideline him permanently from the game he loves.

Asked if this was the end of a riding life for him, Longden said: "I don't know. We'll wait and see."

Dr. R. V. Fait, the track physician, said "Johnny will be sidelined for at least six months. A double break like this is serious and at his age it will heal slowly —especially in view of the fact that it is near an old break."

Ironically, Longden had his leg broken by a 2-year-old filly named Royal Zaca, a daughter of Royal Serenade. Longden had ridden the latter to victory in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup a few years ago.

Royal Zaca started to flip over backwards in the gate. Johnny's leg was momentarily caught against the side of the gate and that caused the break.

P-McKean-Media Little Leaguers in State Title Tilt

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UP)-Potter-McKean, the 1951 state champions, meets Media today for the Pennsylvania Little League Baseball championship.

Potter - McKean, a team composed of boys from five communities in two counties, staved off a last inning rally Friday night to defeat Tarentum, 5-3, in the semi-finals. The victors coupled six hits with faulty Tarentum fielding to score in the fourth and fifth innings.

Steve Kudlock, who pitched five-hit ball, had a shutout going into the sixth and final inning when George Klucinec rapped him for a three-run homer. The loss was charged to Ken Schwartz who was relieved by Bud Kort in the fifth.

Media gained the final round with a 2-1 victory over Duquesne. Third-baseman Tom Peppler hit a game-winning homer in the final inning to break a 1-1 tie. He also singled home Media's other run in the first inning and doubled in the third.

Al Gollatz struck out nine men while holding Duquesne to three hits. Loser George Benedict struck out 10 while going the distance.

Norristown Track Star Sets Record

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Josh Culbreath of Norristown, Pa., former Morgan State College star, set a new world record of 50.5 seconds for the 440-yard hurdles in an international meet Friday night at Bislet Stadium.

The listed world mark is 51.3 seconds by Yuri Lituev of Russia, set in 1954.

Don Bragg of Villanova College set a new European pole vault mark of 15 feet, 1.9 inches, and Tom Courtney of Livingston, N.J., won the 800-meter run in 1:45.8, just one-tenth of a second off the world record held by Roger Moens of Belgium. The shotput went to Ken Bantum of New York with a toss of 56.64 feet.

Strong, Balanced Yank Wightman Team In Action

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A "strong and well-balanced" United States team opened defense of its long-held Wightman Cup tennis title at Edgeworth Club today against a British team accented by youth.

The Britons sent two youthful veterans and three teenagers against such U.S. court standouts as Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, her runner - up Darlene Hard, Pennsylvania women's singles titlist Dorothy Head Knode and the American doubles championship team of Margaret Osborne DuPont and Louise Brough.

Heading the British team was tiny Shirley Bloomer, 22-year-old holder of this year's British, French and Italian singles titles. She faced Miss Gibson in the opening singles match at 1:30 p.m., e.d.t.

Miss Bloomer's teammates in the 29th renewal of Wightman Cup play were Ann Shilcock, 25, and the teenaged trio of Khristine Truman, 16, Ann Haydon, 18, and Sheila Armstrong, also 18.

In the second singles event today, Mrs. Knode was matched against Miss Truman. Miss Gibson and Miss Hard engaged Miss Bloomer and Miss Armstrong in a pairing of the No. 2 doubles teams. Play Sunday involves three singles and one doubles match.

Both teams worked but all week on the composition Teniko courts at Edgeworth and were considered "razor sharp."

After final practice rounds Friday afternoon, U.S. team captain Mrs. DuPont declared:

"We are strong and well balanced. Althea and Darlene give us the power and Dotty Knode is sound and steady."

However, she conceded that the composition surface would favor the British team "especially Shirley Bloomer who has won three major tournaments on such courts this year."

Seixas-Gil Shea In Semi-Finals

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Gil Shea of Los Angeles, who provided upsets Friday, meet today in a semi-final match in the Eastern Grass Courts tennis tournament.

Dick Savitt of South Orange and top-seeded Hamilton Richardson of Westfield, N.J., meet in the other semi-final. The All-American semi-finals were a welcome surprise to U.S. Davis Cup officials as Australia, 6-3, 7-5; Richardson beat the quarter-final for the first time in the history of this tournament.

Seixas beat the top-seeded foreign entry, Ashley Cooper of Australia, -3, 7-5; Richardson beat Roy Emerson of Australia, 8-6, 6-1, and Savitt defeated Mal Anderson of the Aussie squad, 9-7, 6-4. Shea, sixth-seeded, beat second-seeded Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 4-6, 12-10, 6-3.

Yankees' AL Lead Shrinking But Braves Pad NL Margin

By MILTON RICHMAN

Don't look now, Casey, but your lead is shrinking and the White Sox figure there's still time to take the Yankees to the cleaners.

Casey Stengel has been warning the Yanks all along they can't afford to relax and if they think he was all talk, he can show 'em the American League standings today which point up the fact that their lead has been sliced from seven games to four.

Only a few days ago, everyone was talking about another prospective Yankee runaway but now they're buzzing about how the never-say-die White Sox still have a chance and how those amazing Baltimore Orioles have bounced back to take over fourth place under Paul Richards' canny direction.

The Orioles, as a matter of fact, used the Yankees as a stepping stone to fourth place when they came from behind to beat them, 4-3, Friday night.

The White Sox, still determined to make a race of it, defeated the Tigers, 5-4, in 11 innings, and Washington, which has caught the winning spirit, too, blanked Boston, 8-0. Kansas City beat Cleveland, 3-2, in 13 innings.

Braves Boost Lead

Over in the National League, Milwaukee increased its lead to 3½ games with a 13-2 shellacking of St. Louis. Brooklyn licked Pittsburgh, 4-2; the Giants beat the Phillies, 6-2, and the Redlegs ended the Cubs' six-game winning streak by sweeping a twi-night double-header, 9-7 and 6-4.

Bob Nieman drove in all four of Baltimore's runs against the Yankees. Nieman connected for his 11th homer in the fourth inning and then lined a three - run double off loser Whitey Ford in the sixth. Lefty Bill Wight was the winner with eighth-inning relief from George Zuverink.

Larry Doby's single in the 11th inning scored Nellie Fox from second base and capped a two-run rally for the White Sox after Detroit had gone ahead with a run in the top of the inning. Reliever Gerry Staley won his second game in as many days.

Pedro Ramos held the Red Sox to six hits as his Senator teammates collected 14 off three pitchers. Art Schult drove in four of Washington's runs with four hits.

Billy Martin's single scored Bob Cerv in the 13th with the run that gave Kansas City reliever Virgil Trucks his eighth victory and dropped the Indians into fifth place. Ralph Terry of the A's had a 2-1 lead with two out in the ninth when rookie Roger Maris tied the game with his 12th home run. Vic Wertz hit his 20th for the Tribe.

The Braves pounded out 18 hits, including homers by Hank Aaron, Bob Hazle, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington, in sending Lindy McDaniel of the Cardinals down to his seventh defeat. Bob Buhl posted his sixth straight victory and his 15th of the campaign as the Cards suffered their fourth consecutive loss.

Limping Duke Snider, back in the lineup for the first time in a week, was the key man as the Dodgers snapped their three-game losing streak. He decoyed Pirate catcher Hank Foiles into dropping the ball and scored a run that put the Dodgers ahead in the fourth, then opened a two-run eighth with his 27th homer off loser Bob Friend. Rookie Danny McDevitt was the winner although Sandy Koufax and Clem Labine helped him out in the ninth.

Ray Crone hurled five - hit ball and Hank Sauer smashed his 17th homer as the Giants handed Robin Roberts his 15th setback of the season. Roberts yielded all six Giant runs and eight of their 10 hits before leaving in the fifth.

The Redlegs won their twi-night twin bill from the Cubs with four-run rallies in the eighth inning of each game. Smokey Burgess' three-run homer off Dick Littlefield highlighted the four-run rally in the opener, while the Redlegs put together four singles and a double for their four-run cluster in the eighth inning of the nightcap. Burgess also homered in the second game.

George Crowe and Frank Robinson homered for Cincinnati in the first game while Dale Long, Chuck Tanner and Bob Speake did likewise for the Cubs.

Valuable Landscaping Service Given Here by Henry's Nursery

In Monessen and the Valley as all over the country more and more people are turning to landscaping as a means of home beautification and that is why an establishment such as Henry's Nursery is performing such a valuable service.

Henry's Nursery is located on the Express Highway, two miles from Belle Vernon Bridge toward Bentleyville. Phone HUdson 3-7218.

Evergreens, flowering shrubs, roses, hedges, fruit and shade trees, fertilizer and peat moss is sold and landscaping service given.

Speaking of trees, nothing improves a home more than a few good shade trees. Here's some good advice on trees from an expert:

Many kinds of trees will not stand bad drainage. For this reason homeowners frequently have difficulty in establishing trees in areas where the soil consists largely of heavy clay subsoil turned up in the building of their houses, says Philadelphia County Agent William H. White.

Lightening heavy clay soil around a tree's root zone by addition of leaf mold, peat moss, compost or other organic matter when planting may not help if a drainage problem exists, according to White.

Test Method

A good way to test for bad drainage is to dig a hole about 18 inches deep in the spot where you are planning to plant a tree. Fill the hole with water and allow it to stand for 36 hours. If water remains in the hole at the end of that time without replenishment from rain or other sources, drainage is unsatisfactory.

White suggests these ways to remedy this situation: Regrade the surface of the ground to encourage better runoff. If there is a lower surface level nearby, drain tile can be laid to carry water from the bottom of the planting hole to a lower spot where it will run away.

Use of Gravel

Another method, which may be better is to dig the planting hole somewhat deeper than necessary to accommodate the roots and fill the bottom with a generous layer of course gravel.

If surface run-off is slow, mound soil slightly around the base of the tree to keep water from gathering there.

Prescription at Haury Pharmacy Carefully Done

When your family physician gives you a prescription to be filled by a druggist he wants to make sure it is carefully compounded by a registered pharmacist who knows his business and will use the finest of pure drugs.

A lot depends upon it because he is interested in restoring you to good health as fast as possible, correcting the physical difficulty for which the prescription is intended.

That is why Haury's Pharmacy, at the corner of Oneida and Schoonmaker in Monessen, Phone MU 4-7282, comes so well recommended by members of the family group and the medical group. Because here is a home-owned drug store that operates their prescription department with thoroughness and diligence. There is always a registered pharmacist on duty at all times to take care of your needs and the purest of drugs gleaned from the four corners of the world are the ingredients that will help get you well fast and carry out your doctor's orders to the very letter.

Which is why the next time you have a prescription to be filled be sure and take it to Haury's Pharmacy where it will be done right.

Haury's Pharmacy also carries a full line of drug and medical supplies, items for the baby, toilet equipment for the men, and just about everything you'll need for the home that a drug store should carry in stock.

And there's a cooling soda fountain to quench your thirst on these hot Summer days, too!

Pennzoil Makes Engine Step Out In Fast Style

Want to show the engine of your automobile how to step out in fast style?

Then, Mr. Motorist, drive to the Bill Ross Pennzoil Service sation, 111 Donner avenue in Monessen, and get an oil change. Then have Mr. Ross put in that Pennzoil, a safe lubrication oil, 100 per cent pure Pennsylvania. Watch the difference — you'll be surprised!

The Bill Ross Pennzoil Service station is an official state inspection station. Body work is done here, tires, batteries and other accessories are sold. You'll get the kind of service that will spell longer life and better performance for your automobile and that is what every motorist desires today.

Periodic checks are advisable. Have Mr. Ross put new Pennzoil in your crankcase every 1,000 miles and have a lubrication job done at the same time.

You'll cut down costly garage bills and enjoy finer car performance all the way around!

Here's what that Pennzoil will do for your engine:

Quiet hum of pure power, itching to step out at a gentle hint from your toe! This kind of engine performance is built into your car. Any less response when you press the throttle — a clatter, ping or knock under the hood — can mean a build-up of harmful deposits in the engine.

Pennzoil with Z-7 safeguards carefully fitted engine parts. This is The Tough-Film oil, 100 per cent Pennsylvania, blended with exclusive Z-7 — a supreme combination of lubricant and dispersant that keeps your engine clean, quiet, powerful for keeps.

Next oil change, insist on Pennzoil with Z-7.

About 100 different kinds of fish have flesh that is so poisonous it is dangerous to eat.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our son and brother, T-Sgt. Paul Denitti, who died 13 years ago today, August 10, 1944.
Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low,
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our sorrows know,
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in Heaven in joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.
Sadly missed by mother, father, brothers and sisters.

Poland Praying For N. Y. Crusade

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham was told Friday night that prayers for the success of his "crusade to save New York" were being said behind Poland's Iron Curtain.

The Rev. A. Kircum, president of the Baptist Church in Poland, was a special guest at Graham's 77th Madison Square Garden evangelistic meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Kircum said that Baptists and other Protestants in his country prayed regularly for the New York Crusade.

Another Polish churchman, the Rt. Rev. K. Kotula, also a guest at the meeting, said he and four other clergymen from his country were on their way to Minneapolis for the third assembly of the Lutheran World federation. The assembly will be held August 15-25.

Thirteen Down

CONCEPCION, Chile (UP) — Thirteen persons were drowned Thursday when a ferryboat overturned and sank in the Bio - Bio River during a heavy rainstorm, authorities reported today. Four others swam to safety.

Dorcas Class Meets at Home of Mrs. Joseph Wells

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Wells, of Fayette road, with Mrs. Sam Wells as cohostess Thursday evening.

Mrs. Donna VanBremen led in the devotions taking her scripture from Matthew. Her topic was "Look for the Stars". She read a poem; "Remember the Days of Old," and an article, "What God Has Promised". Rachael Hoffman gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. Henrietta Younkin was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Zelma Popp, treasurer and Mrs. Joseph Wells, secretary, gave reports.

The class will remember three shut-ins with birthday gifts this month.

The president thanked the members and committee, who assisted with the Sunday School picnic.

Project Successful

The July calendar project conducted by Mrs. Jennie Trich was successfully concluded. Mrs. Popp was in charge of the new ways and means project.

The next meeting will be at the home of Persis Lewitsky and the co-hostess will be Evelyn Stump. The devotional leader will be Marie Wallace.

A social hour followed. Games were played and prizes were won by Jennie Trich and Mrs. Younkin. The two hostesses were in charge of games and served luncheon.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Card Party

Proceeds from the card party sponsored by Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary to Post 659 Thursday evening went to the Salvation Army building fund. Mrs. Ann Lucas headed the committee in charge.

There were 10 tables in play and high score awards in five hundred went to Betty Domonkos, Sara Pocky, Mabel O'Hara and Althea Heath. Winners in euchre were Mrs. Von Ewart, Alice Ventura, James Davis and Ida Miller.

Special prizes were awarded to Frances Seibert, Vera Jenkins and Stella Lidgate while guest prizes were won by Mrs. Jenkins and Betty Connolly.

Auxiliary members assisting Mrs. Lucas were Mrs. Emma Jarvis, ways and means chairman, Mrs. Mary Bashada, Mrs. Seibert and Mrs. Ventura.

Another party has been planned for next Thursday and will be sponsored for the Vernon Parent Teacher Association.

Rotary Club In Steak Fry

The Thursday evening meeting of the Belle Vernon Rotary Club was held at Monessen City Park in the form of a steak fry and corn roast.

In charge of the steak preparation were Albert Catrini, Dr. Alexander Hoffstetter, John McCauley and Joseph Toteda. The corn was prepared by Ed Haury.

It was decided to dispense with the usual business session. Next Thursday, when the dinner session is held in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church there will be further discussion of the building of the proposed Boy Scout House, which the club plans to take for a project if possible.

Palfreys Visit In South Carolina

Mrs. William Palfrey and daughter, Sherry, Mrs. Lorrain D. Palfrey, Mrs. Winfield Harvey, daughter, Roberta and son, Jimmie have returned home after visiting with Marine Pvt. Lorrain D. Palfrey at Parris Island, S. C.

Last Monday they attended graduation ceremonies for the platoon with which Pvt. Palfrey is stationed. It was termed by the commanding officer one of the best to come out of Parris Island with a record of nine out of a possible twelve battalion and depot streamers.

Pvt. Palfrey will spend the next six weeks at Camp LeJeune before having a 15 day leave.

Gary Hughes, of Mulberry St., has returned home after being a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mrs. Elaine Snyder plans to leave this weekend to join her husband, Laird Snyder, who is stationed with the armed forces in Texas. They plan to reside there for the next year.

Clifford Sterner and Richard Palfrey, both of whom are stationed with the U. S. Navy at Newport, R. I. spent a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sterner, of Wood St., and Mr. and Mrs. William Palfrey, of Short St. They had with them a guest, Kenneth Whitson, of Kansas, who is also with the navy at Newport.

Robin Lee Whitelaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitelaw, of Belle Vernon R. D., has recovered following an illness of several days.

First Christian Church Group Serves Dinner

A corn roast and chicken supper was served members of the Ladies Missionary Society of the First Christian Church on Thursday evening preceding the regular meeting. The meal was served at 5:30 o'clock at the flower appointed table.

Mrs. Esther Mazza was the devotional leader. She read a scripture lesson from Corinthians. The devotional subject was "Cooperation." Mrs. Mazza offered prayer and the women joined in the Lord's Prayer.

The business session was also conducted by Mrs. Mazza, president. Routine reports were given.

Plans were discussed for entertaining Phyllis Rodkey, of the Seay Home, Somerset, in Belle Vernon during September, when she is observing her birthday anniversary. Phyllis is the little girl the organization adopted by proxy some time ago. The women visited her last month.

Plans were discussed for the next meeting, which will be in the form of a wiener roast on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Jack Frazier, of Short St. Mrs. Grace Mills will be the devotional leader.

Sparkle Nine in Dinner Party

Instead of having their regular meeting on Thursday evening, members of the Sparkle Nine Club gathered at the Peasant Village for a dinner party.

In the early evening dinner was served and then the women played cards. High score awards were won by Mrs. Jennie Lehew, Mrs Gladys Bakewell, Mrs. Ina Crow and Mrs. Isabelle Kortina.

Mrs. Bakewell was the winner of the floating prize.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jennie Lehew, of Lynnwood.

Mr. Lewis Wins New Jersey Trip

Mrs. Mary Edith Lewis, of Speer St., has been awarded a five-day vacation to Ephrata and three days at Wildwood-by-the Sea, N. J. A local Dutchmaid stylist, she was one of six local representatives who merited the trip.

Mrs. Lewis will leave tomorrow for the drive to Ephrata. Highlighting her stay there will be a preview of the new fall fashions.

She will enjoy a Chinese dinner in Wilmington, Delaware, enroute to the resort where a full program has been planned including moonlight cruise, deep sea fishing and a clam bake.

Happiness Club Meets Thursday

Mrs. Elsie Jacobs, of North Charleroi, was hostess to the members of the Happiness Club at her home on Thursday afternoon.

Cards were played and winning the prize was Mrs. Annie Craig

Luncheon was served, and plans were made for another meeting next week at the home of Mrs. Edna Rossell, of Main St.

Mrs. Edna Rossell, of Main St., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, of Fayette City, are spending the weekend in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans, of Water St., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Grace Barley, and family, of York.

The August meeting of the Anita Garibaldi Society has been cancelled. The regular business session will be held in September.

Mrs. Sam Deeb and family, of Speers Hill, visited Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hamilton, of Morgantown, W. Va.

W. S. C. S. Meets at Church in Webster

The W. S. C. S. of the Webster Methodist Church met on Tuesday at the church with Florence Lynn in charge.

Scripture was read by Sara Walker and the hymns included "Bring Them In" and "God So Loved the World."

The spiritual advisor for the meeting was Flora Faulks. A session of sentence prayers followed. Mrs. Leckenby directed a Bible Quiz, which was preceded by a reading from the book "The Upper Room."

Mrs. Isabella Knight was the accompanist for the singing.

Submit Reports

Submitting reports were Mrs. Knight, secretary; and Mrs. Deshong, treasurer.

Letters from the Bradley Home and Missionaries were read. Secret sisters were revealed and new ones selected.

Hostesses for the meeting were Sara Walker and Lillie Butler. Also attending were Elma Connelley, Marie Brooks, Elizabeth Homey, Virginia Rea, Anna Hamilton, Ada Addis, Mildred Bakewell.

Invocation was by Mrs. Lynn.

Good News Class Holds Meeting

The Good News Bible Study Class of the Webster Presbyterian Church met on Thursday evening in the home of Agnes Leonard.

Dora Richey served as devotional leader, taking as her topic "Temptation" from the book "Think with God."

Scripture was from the fourth chapter of St. Luke.

A question and answer period followed, with Peg Gillingham in charge. This was closed with sentence prayers.

The business session was conducted by President Agnes Leonard. Reports were submitted by Estella Roberts, Muriel Kriston, Lois Thompson, Gail Patterson and June Cupples.

Morning Star Class Meets

The Morning Star Class of the Webster Presbyterian Church met on Wednesday at the home of Mary Curran. In charge was vice-president Nora Mauer.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Maurer, with Lillie Boyd discussing "Women of the Bible."

Reports were given by Lillie Snyder, secretary; and Dorothy Byers, treasurer.

Others present were Virginia Morgan, Dora Richey, Lois Thompson, Lois Bainbridge and Theresa Koons.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Landman and daughter from Brownsville visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. James Linderman and son of Broad Ave. Extension, Belle Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kathryn Jugan and daughters Cathy and Charleen are vacationing in Norfolk, Va.

St. Anne Picnic Slated Tomorrow

St. Anne's R. C. Church, Fellsburg, will hold its annual picnic tomorrow at the Croatian grounds in Pricedale.

Oswald Dolfi is chairman of the event. Frances Pasierb is the chairlady.

Refreshments will be available at the picnic site. In the evening, there will be free dancing to the music of the Royal Aces orchestra.

The Rostraver Twp. School Board will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the office of Superintendent E. F. Carter, it was announced today.

Paul Switzer will be the speaker at the Webster Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Former Editor On Stand in Confidential Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The prosecution today prepared to hammer home its contention of malice in the libel trial of scandal magazines Confidential and Whisper.

The ex-editor of Confidential testified Friday that he purposely wrote smear stories to injure prominent personalities.

The former editor, Howard Rushmore, of New York, said "I certainly did," whe nasked if he had ever written any story to injure anyone.

"I'm proud I wrote the Rory Calhoun story," Rushmore said on the witness stand. He also said he wrote storie about Marilyn Monroe, Van Johnson, Richard Carlson and John D. Rockefeller.

In a counter-attack defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley said he had asked Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker to rule Monday on statements about stories other than those mentioned in the suit would be admissible as evidence in the case.

Your Health—

Lose Weight and Be Happy!

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

So you're going to reduce! Well let me offer my congratulations — together with a few words of warning.

Any reducing diet should be planned by a physician.

Don't embark upon some fad diet or arbitrarily set your own food limits. You've got to get adequate nourishment even though you are not eating as much as usual. Only a doctor can determine just how this should be accomplished.

It's also advisable for your doctor to decide just how much poundage you should lose and how fast it should be shed. Losing too much weight too quickly can produce rather drastic results.

Use the so-called reducing drugs only if your doctor advises them. And while you are using them, keep in close contact with the physician.

Any drug, if used long enough, might become dangerous.

Don't weigh yourself more often than once a week.

There is a great temptation to check your weight each day to see how well your diet is working, but minor fluctuations might be discouraging and spoil your determination to reduce.

Make sure your scale is reliable. Keep it in the bathroom where you can weigh yourself with a minimum amount of clothing.

Weigh yourself regularly at the same time each week.

A reducing diet should not be a grim business. It requires determination, of course, but it can be perfectly pleasant. With our modern scientific diets, reducing is not too much of a hardship on anyone who really wants to lose weight.

Unless your doctor advises otherwise, I suggest that your daily food intake be consumed at three meals as nearly equal in content and value as possible.

Don't skip breakfast entirely or restrict it only to coffee or some other beverage. You might be apt to overeat at your other meals if you do.

Cut down on your use of salt while dieting. Oversalting foods can spoil an otherwise good diet. Too much salt creates thirst, as you well know. And thirst cause excess water retention in your body which increases weight. Before you know it, your scale will show that you have gained weight instead of losing it.

But don't give up. You can diet and be happy, too.

Question and Answer

S G - I have been losing weight and coughing up blood. Could these be symptoms of tuberculosis?

Answer: The first symptoms of tuberculosis are fatigue and loss of weight. There is a loss of appetite which is followed by coughing, expectoration, more loss of weight, fever and night sweats.

Tony Perkins Gives Up Movies for Stage

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Anthony Perkins hitch-hiked to Hollywood from Broadway two years ago. In two months Tony, now a top cinema heart-throb, will return to the state—and will live in the same $50 apartment.

While many new young stars talk in vain of going back to the trueblue art of the theatre. Tony is one who actually is giving up movies for a year to act on the stage in "Look Homeward, Angel", at one - fourth his usual salary.

He lived in a $50-a-month apartment during his days on the stage in "Tea and Sympathy", his first play that brought him to Hollywood stardom in "Friendly Persuasion."

"And in October I'll be back in that same $50 apartment—I've always kept it," grinned Tony, showing that fan magazine layouts and autograph hounds haven't changed our hero.

Instead of hitch - hiking, however, Tony will drive cross-country in his sports car, top down, guaranteeing a crowd of eager girls at gas stations in a dozen states.

"Tony's Broadway return is unique. For the first time an actor who has been signed for a picture is going to New York to star in the stage version first.

Paramount bought the film rights to the book, "Look Homward, Angel" seven years ago (from producer David Selznick) but the script gathered dust be-

No Need For Noisy Plumbing

Keeping the plumbing system from hammering and chattering is a simple matter if plumbing goods of good quality are used and if the system is designed and installed under the supervision of an experienced plumbing contractor.

There are four common types of noises which can easily be avoided by proper installation and which can be corrected by a plumbing contractor.

The National Association of Plumbing Contractors classifies these noises as: Faucet and valve noise, water hammer noise, water closet tank noise, and water heater tank noise. In addition there are, in some plumbing systems, hissing noises caused by water flowing too rapidly in pipe.

Faucet noises are usually caused by worn washers, loose washers, or defective internal assembly of the faucet. By taking the faucet apart, a plumbing contractor can tell what is causing the noise and how to correct it.

Water hammer noises are caused by shock waves that result when the flow of water in a pipe is suddenly stopped by the rapid closing of a faucet or valve. Water hammer noises should not be allowed to continue because they will eventually cause leaks in the plumbing system. A frequent cause of water hammer noise is the loss of the air cushion in the air chambers near the fixtures.

Noises in the tank of the water heater are usually due to heating of the water too rapidly and at too high a temperature.

Lower Property Insurance Rates

Lower property insurance rates for home owners are a possibility as a result of a new asphalt strip shingle just introduced by the Flintkote Company.

The shingle is made with a strong adhesive on the back of each tab which enables it to seal itself down and to resist winds of hurricane proportions.

In the past, insurance companies have paid out huge sums to cover roof damages from hurricanes and high winds. By preventing such damage, the new shingle will reduce the losses of casualty companies. Thus they will be in a position to reduce costs of policies on homes with these roofs.

HERE'S HOW...

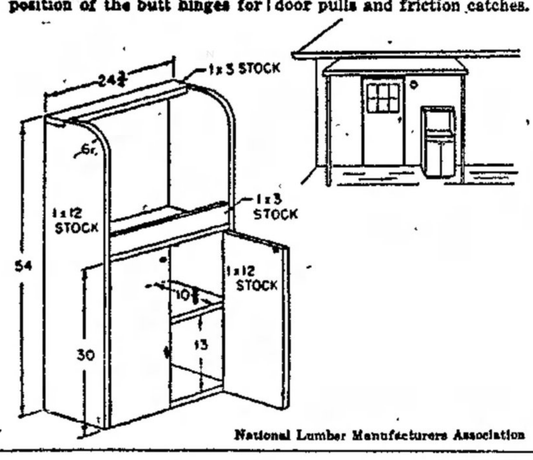
MAKE A DELIVERY STORAGE CABINET

A delivery storage cabinet for groceries and other deliveries when you are away from home can be made of 1 by 12 and 1 by 3-inch lumber.

The sides are made of 1 by 12-inch lumber 54 inches long. The curved front corner is made with a coping or jig saw. The top rear edge is cut out as shown for the 1 by 3-inch brace. The center shelf is 30 inches from the bottom of each side panel. Locate the position of the butt hinges for the door 4 inches from the bottom of the panel and 4 inches from the 30-inch mark for the shelf. Cut out the area for the hinge plate.

The shelves are planed to a width of 10⅝ inches. The front brace is made of 1 by 3-inch lumber. The doors and bottom are of 1 by 12-inch lumber.

Assemble with glue and 6-penny finishing nails. Add the door pulls and friction catches.



National Lumber Manufacturers Association

Green Still Popular Color for Rooftops

Americans still prefer green on their rooftops, although their tastes run more to soft, muted tones than they did 15 years ago, a national study shows.

The study, undertaken in 1956 by the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau, a manufacturers' association, shows that almost one-third of the asphalt shingles shipped from plants were in soft, blended greens.

A similar study made in 1941 revealed that 20 percent of the asphalt shingles that year were in a bright, solid green. More than 20 percent were hexagonal in shape.

The new study shows a trend away from hexagonal shingles, with only 5 percent sold in 1956. Most popular today is the square-tab strip shingle.

Preferences for color differ in various regions of the United States, according to the study. On the Pacific Coast, light gray was most popular, while homeowners in the Northwest preferred solid black or blue-black and gray blends.

In the Southeast, straight white led with 24.8 percent of the shingles sold, and in the Southwest, white shingles totaled 16.9 percent. In both the Southern regions, solid color shingles were preferred.

Of the total asphalt shingles shipped from 68 manufacturing plants during the survey period, 11.3 percent were white.

'Sun Sled' New Item for Patio

The growing trend toward outdoor living has produced a new item of patio furniture — the "sun sled." Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can make one themselves.

All that's needed is a few board feet of 2 x 2 lumber for the framework which looks much like that of a regular snow sled. Wood slats or canvas stretched across the top complete the project.

No Time to Neglect Your Heating System

Wise home owners do not neglect the heating system any more than they would buy an automobile, padlock the engine hood, and expect perfect performance for 10 to 20 years.

Modern — or modernized — home heating systems can now deliver solid comfort during the entire heating season.

They don't need as much attention as automobiles, even though they work more hours during the winter. They do, however, need an annual check-up if they are to provide the utmost comfort at minimum cost. In fact, it is the care that the heating plant receives right now during the summer months that determines its operating efficiency during the heating season.

The first step in the summer care of the heating plant is a thorough cleaning, followed by a check-up by an experienced heating contractor, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau reminds us.

If the system is an oil-fired hot water heating system, the flues of the boiler and the smoke-pipe should be thoroughly cleaned as well as the oil burner itself. An experienced heating contractor will know how to check the operation of the controls and how to check for worn parts that may need replacing.

Arrangements for such a seasonal cleaning and checking should be made as soon as possible so that dealers can schedule the work at a time that will be mutually convenient for the owner and the dealer.

Less Radiation

Wood homes give off considerably less natural radiation than homes of other materials, according to Swedish scientists. The figure for a wood house is 80 to 90 milliroentgens a year.

Nation's Color Tastes Improving

Mel Grau, one of the West Coast's leading color-stylists, says a trend toward "low key" colors means that the nation's tastes are improving.

"Low key," says Grau, who color-styles thousands of new development homes in California every year, "means soft pastels in a monochromatic scheme, such as an asphalt shingle roof in a quiet brown, with harmonizing beige or gentle yellow siding and trim."
